Missions and Sunday School Extension For The Coming Year

Our faces are set again toward the rising sun of a New Year. The path leads out into the mists of the future. The shaping of the destinies of the young lives entrusted to our care must continue, and the older ones must be led into greater opportunities of service, expressions of which make for more Christlike characters. The missionary-mind is the Christ

Place Posters

The purpose of Extension Sunday is to have someone present the extension work of the Dual Mission Special in every Sunday school and in every Sunday school department, in order that all of our people may become informed about this type of work that is being done in Louisiana Conference, supported by the fourth Sunday missionary offerings.

Begin Sunday School Evangelism Now

By REV. H. L. JOHNS

"Is my church a place where the young can realize a happy, growing, intelligent devotion to Jesus Christ and His reign of love?"

That is the all-important question for our Sunday schools and churches, the year round. The special season of Sunday school evangelism brings to us the opportunity of especially mind. The Sunday school is an unexcelled opportunity for teaching missions. Every Sunday in the year the church reaches, through its teaching agency, the Sunday school, thousands of individuals of all ages—from the youngest child to the eldest adult—in each community for religious instruction. What a wonderful opportunity is presented here for a thorough going process of missionary education that shall not only mold the younger minds after the fashion of Christ in missionary thinking, but freshen the minds of those older with the quickening power of his spirit in new attitudes toward the universal brotherhood found in Christ Jesus and creating unquenchable desires to render the greatest service in making Christ a real Saviour to all the peoples of the world.

Our Dual Mission Special

The Sunday school takes its place in the church-wide program of missionary instruction and activity through what has become so familiarly known to every Sunday school worker as "Our Dual Mission Special." The Dual Mission Special makes possible the extension of religious education through the Sunday school, both at home and abroad; it provides a program of missionary education in our Sunday schools, and a practical plan to express our sense of responsibility for the support of our mission work, which is an integral part of the process of missionary education.

Our Louisiana Dual Mission Special includes as its home feature extension work in Louisiana, which is represented in the work being done by the Louisiana Conference Sunday School Board through its extension secretary, the Rev. A. K. McLellan, and associate, Miss Lois Hammett. The foreign extension feature is embodied in the work being done by the Rev. J. O. Kim, Conference Superintendent of Sunday schools in our Korean conference, and also the entire support of our China mission field.

Plea for Heartiest Support

If this program of missionary education and extension is to be ever increasingly effective, it must have the unstinted support of every presiding elder, pastor, Sunday school superintendent, and every worker in the local school. We are not thinking entirely here of financial support, but a personal loyalty to the content and aim of such a program, as an opportunity for missionary education and sharing in a world-wide service for the extension of the kingdom. Not what it will GET financially, but what it will DO with those it touches in making them missionary-minded and the joy of sharing with others the experiences of the Christ life.

Need More Schools Observing

Every Sunday school in our Conference that does not observe each fourth Sunday as Missionary Day is not only failing to enlist in a great program of missionary education and Sunday school extension at home and abroad, but is weakening the effectiveness of the program by withholding this support. One of the many benefits a local school should derive from participation in our Dual Special is the missionary education made possible for the constituency of the school itself and the great satisfaction that comes of sharing with so many others in the extension of the kingdom. Our plea for the new year is that every school in our conference observe faithfully each fourth Sunday as missionary Sunday.

The Worship Program and Missionary Education

The worship period of the Sunday school session on each fourth Sunday should be used as an opportunity for presenting vital facts concerning the mission fields included in our Dual Mission Special for 1929. The effectiveness of missionary education in a local school depends largely on the attitudes of those participating toward the means and methods used in presenting these facts and the manner of presentation by those responsible for the missionary worship program itself. If the program is not considered at all, then there is no opportunity for instruction through this means. If it is poorly presented, evidencing no advance planning, care or thought, the response will be in like kind. If the program is mechanical, it will have lost its vital power of appeal. Let us prepare programs provided with powerful missionary appeal, stirring in the hearts of those touched the greatest admiration and respect for our program as a means of missionary education and arousing a soul-stirring desire for participating to the fullest in the promotion of such a program in the local Sunday school.

The Offering

Regardless of how necessary it is that too much emphasis must not be placed on the offering, we must face up to the fact that it plays a very important part in the effective ongoing of the program in its proper functioning. Since the Dual Mission Special depends solely on the fourth Sunday offerings for its financial support, it isn't difficult to see how important it is for every school to observe with a program and an offering. It would be ruinous and defeat the very purpose of missionary education in the Sunday school to put the offering too far in the foreground and place the emphasis on the offering alone. But as a result of the presented program, impressive and instructive, let there come generous offerings as an expression of inward desire to take each a place in the effective operation of every feature of our Dual Mission Special for 1929.

Remembering that 50 per cent of each offering remains at home, one can see how necessary it is that this offering be made amply large for the successful operation and expansion of our own extension program in Louisiana. We hope these facts will stimulate our leaders, and every school, to a continuous observance of each fourth Sunday as Missionary Day in the Sunday school, carrying out a properly prepared program, taking a liberal offering and sending promptly to our treasurer, Mr. A. M. Mayo, Lake Charles, La.

studying and planning for Christian decisions that will help our youths to come to Christ.

We want to make the offer of the finest thing in the world—the religion of Jesus—to our Sunday school pupils. It is worth our effort, prayer, and consecration. So let us, now, begin to reap a precious harvest.

What can we do?

1. Study the leaflets and plans of the Sunday School Board for Sunday school evangelism.

2. Pray and prepare for your own school's special needs.

3. Be definite. Make lists of those you would speak to, and pray for, and see take definite stands for Christ and the church.

4. Devote at least one meeting of the Workers Council to discussion of this great matter.

5. Try to avoid unreal and "on the spur of the moment" decisions among your pupils that will mean little. Work and pray for Christian decisions that will be lasting.

6. There is only one thing to do—that is, get busy.

COKESBURY LEADERSHIP TRAINING FOR 1929

Plan Early for a School for Your Charge

We hope our readers will study carefully the Cokesbury Leadership Training report for 1928 found on page 3 in this issue of the Bulletin. We are anxious that you begin now to plan for a Cokesbury school on your charge for the coming year. We were able to reach a large number of our schools with this type of training work last year and we want to reach a larger number this year.

By careful planning, we believe this can be done very effectively. Let us hear from you right away about a Cokesbury school for your people.

MISS HAMMETT BECOMES FULL-TIME WORKER

The Sunday school board, at its meeting during the annual conference at Lake Charles, elected Miss Lois Hammett conference elementary superintendent and associate Sunday School Extension Secretary. Her support will be derived from the Sunday school day offerings and also from the fourth Sunday missionary offerings.

In presenting Miss Hammett again, we feel sure that her work in the French mission field during the past summer and fall commends her to you as a forceful, Christian, and efficient worker. Dr. R. H. Harper, former presiding elder of the New Orleans district, spoke highly of Miss Hammett's work and urged that she be retained as a full-time worker.

As a full-time worker she will devote part of her time to the extension work of the Conference Sunday School Board. Thus, we bespeak for her, your heartiest co-operation, not only in the extension work she will do, but also in the general elementary work under her direction. Since Miss Hammett's support is derived both from the Sunday school day offerings and missionary day offerings, we urge upon our schools the necessity of enlarging the fourth Sunday offerings to care for this enlargement in our program. Let every school observing each fourth Sunday present the extension work and its needs as forcefully as possible in order that the offerings may be sufficient to care for our enlarged program.

We urge those schools not observing to get in line with the Dual Mission Special for the coming year, and lend their assistance to the accomplishment of the idea of service embodied in this program.

During the early part of January, we hope to place in each school a poster to be used on every fourth Sunday. On one side of the poster are the words, "Next Sunday Is Missionary Day in Our Sunday School." This side is to face the school on the Sunday before the fourth Sunday, reminding them that Missionary Day is the following Sunday. On the reverse side, that is to face the school on the fourth Sunday, are these words between a picture showing the Dual Mission Special for the Sunday schools of Louisiana, "Today Is Missionary Day in Our Sunday School." The larger schools should use these in each department.

We are anxious that the fourth Sunday in January be designated Extension Sunday. On this day in each Sunday school let someone present facts about our extension program in Louisiana. In the larger schools these facts should be presented and explained in each department. We are anxious that our extension program in Louisiana be brought tc the attention of every Sunday school worker and pupil in every school.

We believe these posters will help in presenting graphically the aim and purpose of our Dual Mission Special, and those responsible for its on-going, and how our missionary dollar is spent. Those desiring other information should write to Rev. A. K. McLellan, P. O. Box 742, Alexandria, La. A copy of the extension secretary's report for 1928 will be furnished on request.

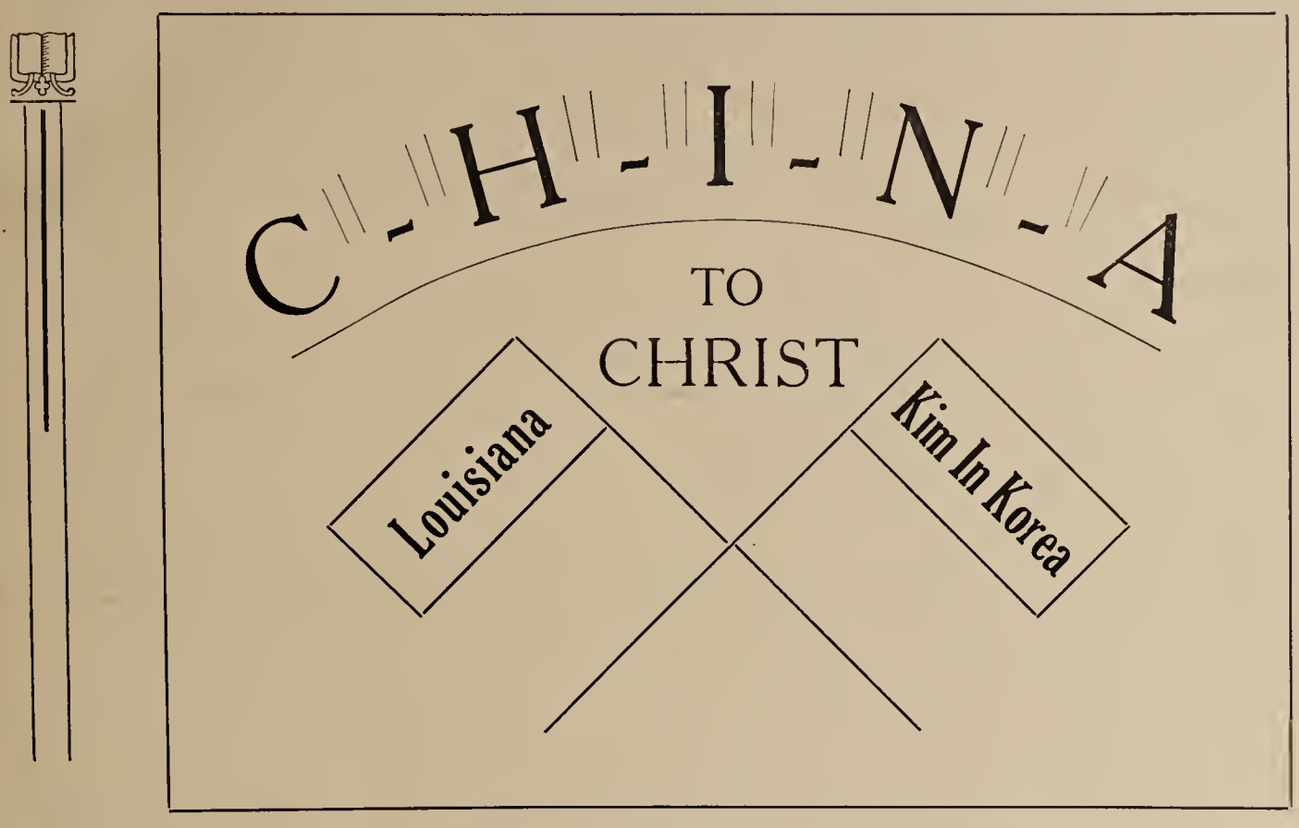
Missions and Sunday School Extension

CHINA — KIM IN KOREA — LOUISIANA

Vol. II. DR. W. WINANS DRAKE, Conference Superintendent Missionary Education — Alexandria, La., February, 1929 — REV. A. K. McLELLAN, Sunday School Extension Secretary — No. 2



IN CHINA

Our New Field

In a Missionary Meeting some days ago, after explaining the change in our Dual Mission Special from Europe to China, a superintendent of one of our large and efficient Sunday Schools said: "Now I know why we change from Europe to China—because it's educational." And so it is. We go now to China and for a period of time will present to our Sunday Schools interesting information from this field and share in the great missionary work being done by these people.

China is not a new field, neither is it young in years. In 1846 the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, began to lay plans to open work in China, and in 1848 the Rev. Charles Taylor and Benjamin Jenkins, both of South Carolina, set sail for the Orient to open work in this needy field.

Southern Methodism is responsible for something like five million people found in the thickly populated provinces of the Chekiang and Kiangsu. A part of this population is included in such important cities as Shanghai, Soochow, Sunkiang, Changchow, Huchow, Changshu, Wusih, and Nanzing.

Four years had passed before the first convert was made, and after eleven years of hard work and sacrifice, there were only eleven native Christians in the China Mission. But the supreme efforts of these consecrated workers have borne incalculable results in soul winning and kingdom building in the years passed. It is the privilege of the Sunday School people of Louisiana to join with the thousands of other Sunday School workers in Southern Methodism to carry on this great work. China is now the Sunday School's Mission Field.

These are some of the enterprises and institutions included in China Mission Work with which it is our privilege to share in carrying on and in presenting the mercies of God and the soul saving peace and desire for service found in Christ Jesus, our Lord:

FOREIGN EXTENSION SUNDAY FEBRUARY 24, 1929

On the fourth Sunday in January we asked our Sunday Schools to observe this day as Extension Sunday, presenting the work of our Sunday School Extension Program in our own Conference. We hope that this was done effectively and successfully, as we were anxious to use this method of presenting our Home work to the Sunday Schools of our own Conference.

In order to present the Foreign Extension Work of our Dual Mission Special, we are asking our Sunday Schools to designate the fourth Sunday in February as Foreign Extension Sunday, using this opportunity to pre-

WITH KIM IN KOREA

Louisiana's Sunday School Worker in Korea

Since we are emphasizing the Foreign Extension phase of our Dual Mission Special for the fourth Sunday in February, it is necessary that we call attention to the fact that this includes both China and Kim in Korea. For emphasis, we should like to present these two important fields of the foreign phase of our Dual Special separately. This is done with the purpose in mind of revealing to the Sunday School people of our conference the tremendously large field and activities included in each of these projects, and the unbelievable opportunities of service open to us as participants in the Dual Mission Special of the Louisiana Conference Sunday Schools.

As Conference superintendent of Sunday Schools in Korea, Kim is doing a magnificent work. He is projecting and carrying on a program of religious instruction in the Sunday Schools of Korea that is reaching a large number of individuals of all ages and embodies all the ideals and aims included in the Sunday school organization. Those of us who are familiar with the aim of the Sunday school as a christianizing agency and the opportunity for gradual development of the individual's life through its process of growth over the procession of the years, are privileged to appreciate the real work our Sunday Schools support by our liberal offerings on each fourth Sunday. Through the Sunday School as the teaching institution of the church, we feel that its effectiveness may be found in the large number of individuals of all ages reached and taught the Christ way of living in themselves and among themselves.

In order that certain facts about Kim's work be available to present to the Sunday Schools of our Conference for their information, we give the following:

Presiding elders' districts	6
Sunday schools	303
Officers and teachers	935
Pupils	10,265
Training classes held	10
Number of pupils in training schools	416

SUBSCRIPTION LIST TO BE ENLARGED

Many Requests for More Copies

Because of our limited finances, it has been necessary to limit the number of copies of our bulletin, "Missions and Sunday School Extension," to one each to the pastor and superintendent of every charge. From the beginning it was our desire to send the bulletin to each teacher and worker in every local school, but were unable to do so because of the above mentioned limitation.

Many requests have come to us for more bulletins for the workers in the local schools. In answer to this request, we are going to attempt to increase our circulation through an enlarged subscription list. The subscription price per copy to each individual for the year is 50c. We are very anxious that each pastor and superintendent present this to their officers, teachers, and workers at once, and send in their subscription list immediately, in order that they may begin receiving the bulletin at once.

If this is done with the desired results, it will enable us to send to each teacher and officer a copy of our bulletin to keep them informed about our work in Louisiana with Kim in Korea and China.

NEED LARGER NUMBER OF SCHOOLS OBSERVING

Larger Number, More Extensive Missionary Education

Why is so much effort being made to get all of our schools to observe each fourth Sunday as Missionary Day in the Sunday School? Is this call worthy of attention? Does it carry with it resources that have a soul stirring appeal, and arouse a compelling urge to make it a dynamic element in the program of each Sunday School? Is it just another day to be observed? Have Missions and the opportunity for Missionary Education lost their appeal? Are our people anxious that the Sunday School teach the youth and adulthood to be missionary-minded? Have we lost interest in the saving of souls?

The Sunday School, as the school of the church, has many effective ways of teaching Missions. But there is, in the Sunday School calendar, one Sunday set apart and dedicated to Missions. In the worship period of this particular Sunday morning school session, there is presented an excellent opportunity to grip the hearts of the school with a well prepared Missionary Program, so filled with vital Missionary information, carried out so forcefully that the response of the individual life to the romantic appeal of Missions shall be deep, soul-stirring and convincing. The story of the lives of consecrated Missionaries have a great heroic appeal to youth and grown-up alike. How can we so indifferently neglect so great an opportunity of giving the constituency of our local Sunday School the Missionary instruction available in a vitally prepared and dynamically presented Fourth Sunday Missionary Program?

The offering to be taken on that day should be an unrestrained expression of the effectiveness of the Missionary Program in making an indelible impression upon the hearts and minds of the listeners. Each element of the program should be so genuinely carried out that even the most listless may be caught and inspired to a real desire for a personal participation in presenting the power of the gospel of Christ unto salvation to the uttermost parts and the needy places of own homeland.

Is there one who would deliberately overlook the benefits enumerated in Fourth Sunday Missionary Programs?

Every Sunday School in our Conference that does not observe each fourth Sunday as Missionary Day is not only failing to enlist in a great program of Missionary Education at home and abroad, but is weakening the effectiveness of this program by withholding this support. Are you standing by?

sent facts about our work in China, and with Kim in Korea.

In this copy of the bulletin there is to be found articles on China and Kim in Korea. We believe these will be beneficial in giving information about the Foreign Extension Work of our Dual Mission Special to our Sunday School people. A large number of Sunday Schools have received a poster for use on Missionary Sunday, others will receive them before February 24, and we hope much use will be made of these posters in presenting the Home and Foreign Work of the Dual Mission Special.

We are always glad to receive inquiries about our Dual Mission Special and take pleasure in answering them promptly.

Special Talks Will Lead to Christian Decisions

Rev. H. L. Johns

The opportunity of reaching our own young people with the religion of Jesus Christ will not wait. Boys and girls, young people are making up their lives NOW. By the time this little notice reaches you, you should be engaged in your 1929 special Sunday School evangelism.

There ought to be planned in all of Louisiana Methodism's Sunday schools a group of simple, pointed, interesting talks, which will serve as an inspiration to young and old to enter and live the Christian life.

Some subjects for these talks might be suggested, as:

1. What Is a Christian?
2. The Marks of the Christian Life.
3. Dangers and Difficulties in a Christian's Path.
4. How to Come to Jesus.
5. What My Church Means to Me.
6. A Life Decision.
7. Prayer.
8. Examples of Living Faith.

The list could be multiplied. The one think I wish to emphasize is, that in our Sunday school worship services, from the junior department age up, we can help our pupils to decide for Christ intelligently and purposefully IF we will face the issue, speak the winning word, and, holding up the benefits to be derived from Christian living, exalt Christ who is able to save and keep us.

If our Sunday schools fail to sound out this message this year, they shall fail to use a golden opportunity.

There is just this other word: Do not expect every person to make the same cut-and-dried decision. Expect a decision from every one, a decision that will mean "a step up" in Christian thinking and living. Let the decisions vary. It will help us to avoid confusion if we are careful at this point. Not every one needs to decide the same thing—to join the church, for example, or to be baptized, etc. But every one can make some decision, after hearing a series of talks emphasizing the Christian life, which will aid his or her own life to a better realization of Christ's teaching and power.

We must work toward Decision Day. The Christian religion can succeed in human lives only to the extent that we decide and determine to live as Jesus would have us live. My prayer is that this spring there will be thousands who will make just those decisions which will bring their lives nearer to Jesus Christ. Out of it will come the smaller groups who wish to publicly confess Him and enter the privileges of His Church.

So, give Sunday School evangelism a chance. Pray that God's spirit will graciously work through us to lead many souls into the "life hid with Christ in God."

MISSIONARY MATERIAL FOR PRIMARY DEPARTMENT

Have you found a good story for your February Missionary Program? If you need one for your Primary Department, why not use a Chinese story? There are two delightful stories in "Our Boys and Girls" for February. Miss Rowe's "A Story of Little Delight," found in the first February number, and Miss Wilson's "Grandmother's Treasure," found in the third February number, are both permeated with friendliness toward the Chinese boys and girls. No longer are we emphasizing the queer and gruesome phases of Chinese life, because "doling out pennies to the poor heathen Chinese" creates an attitude of false superiority and self-righteousness in our American boys and girls. On the other hand, stories that create a friendly attitude toward others form a good basis on which to build the idea of sharing. We want our children to say, "These are my friends. I want my friends to share the best I have. The Christian religion is the best I have, and I want them to share it, too."

The little song, "Friends," No. 275 of the New Cokesbury Hymnal, also creates a friendly feeling toward others. Use this little song in planning your Missionary program.

Watch for Miss Wilson's stories in the "Elementary Teacher" and "Our Boys and Girls." They are invaluable She is a returned missionary and knows whereof she speaks.

MISS LOIS HAMMETT,
Conf. Elem. Supt. and Asso. Exten. Secretary.

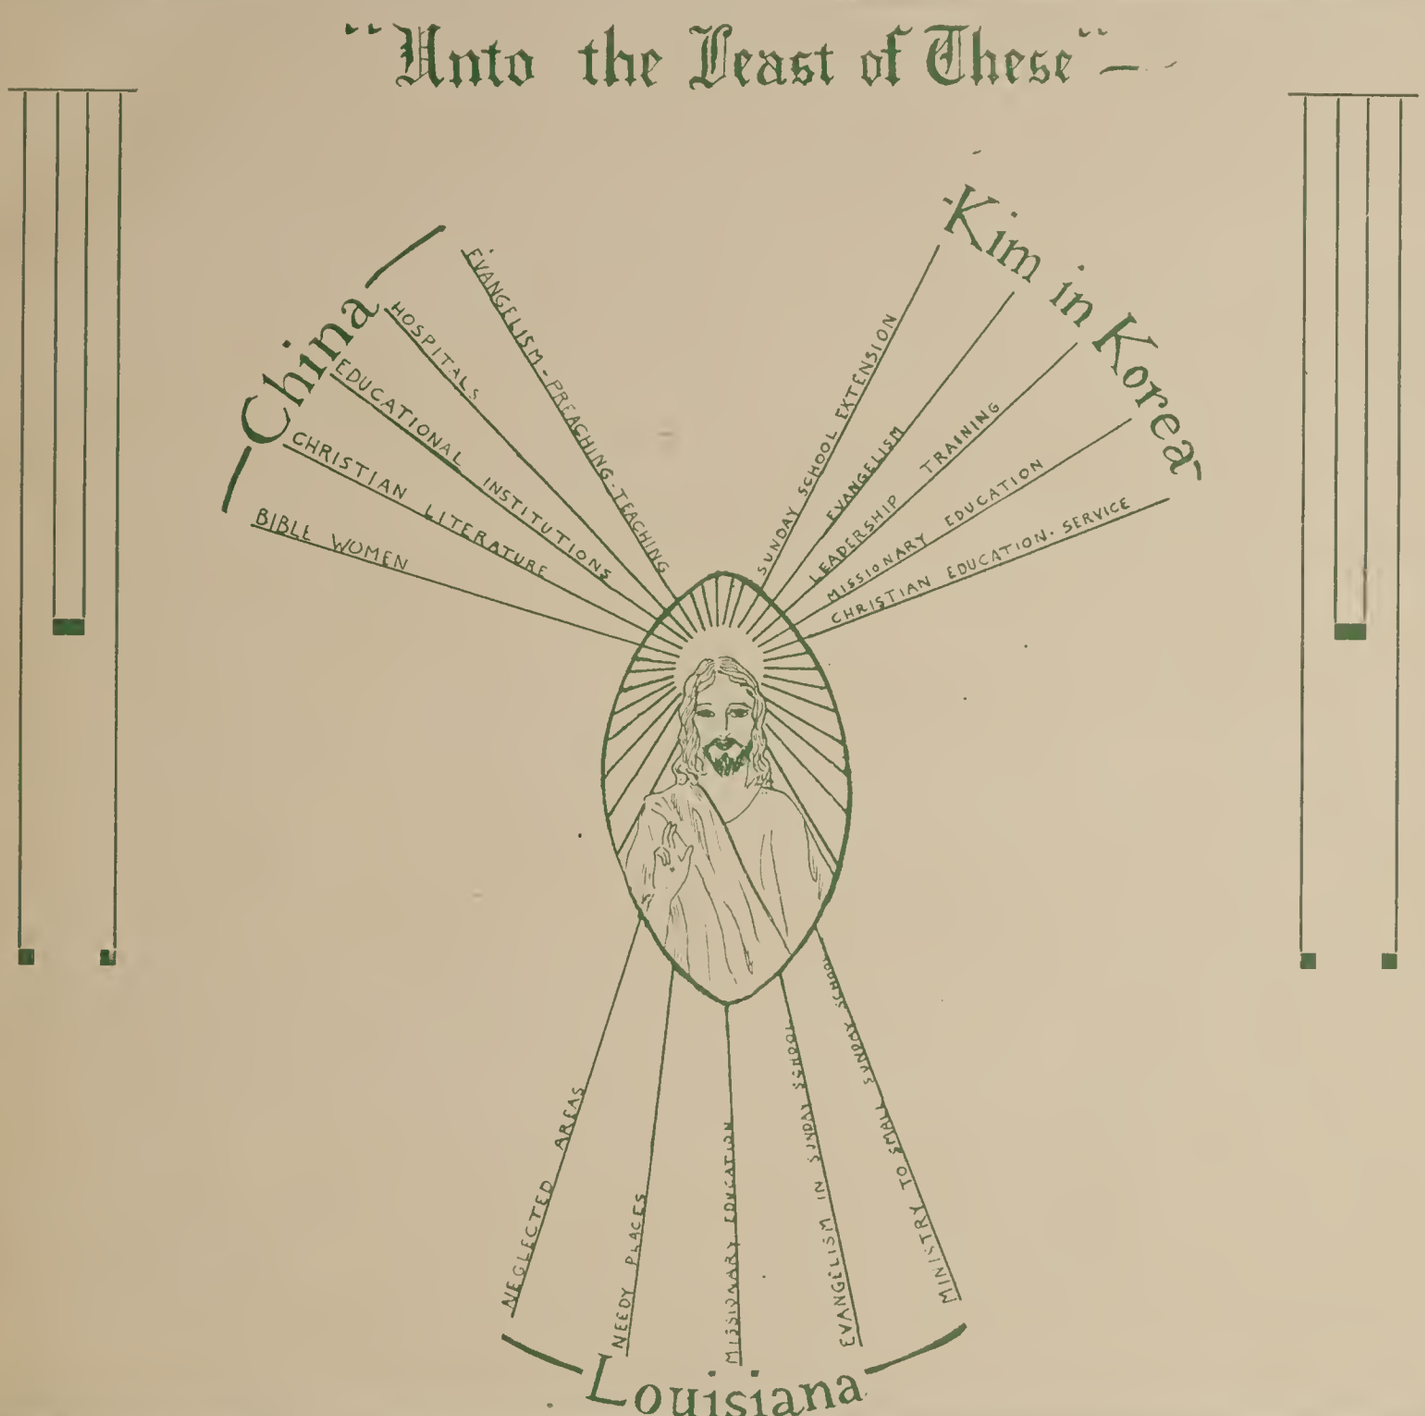
Missions and Sunday School Extension

CHINA — KIM IN KOREA — LOUISIANA

Vol. II. DR. W. WINANS DRAKE Conference Superintendent Missionary Education — Alexandria, La., March, 1929 — REV. A. K. McLELLAN Sunday School Extension Secretary — No. 3



Unto The Least Of These

The Sunday School Extension Program conducted by by the Louisiana Conference Sunday School Board and participated in by the local Sunday Schools of the Louisiana Conference embodies the spirit of Christ in Missionary endeavor, evangelistic effort, and constructive helpfulness.

Concerned With Needs of Small Sunday Schools

It is particularly concerned with the needs of the small Sunday Schools and

Flu and Bad Weather Conditions Affect Finances of Extension Program

The bad weather conditions and so much sickness from flu have greatly demoralized the finances necessary for the successful operation of our Dual Mission Program in the Sunday school. Our funds for this cause are derived solely from the offerings given through each Sunday school on the fourth Sunday in every month.

Sunday School Evangelism The Pastor's Class

Rev. H. L. Johns

After Sunday School evangelism has faithfully presented the Christian message and helped to Chrisian decision, a period of instruction and training follows which is probably best recognized when mention is made of The Pastor's Class. This is to prepare and train candidates for church membership.

the needy places found within the bounds of our own Conference. "Unto the least of these" does it expect to reach and render a genuine service that is constructive and helpful in creating a larger vision among the personnel of these schools of the opportunities within their own grasp for Christ-like character building in the lives of those they reach and teach.

Ministry to Needy Places

At the same time these small schools are being reached and ministered to, there are many places that do not have preaching services and no Sunday School that need the help so very much than can be given through our Extension program. Such places do not always come into the knowledge of those responsible for the Extension program, because attention has not been called to them or have not been discovered. Through the presiding elders and neighbor pastors these places may be discovered and with the help of these Extension programs may have a real chance to bring to them knowledge, information and enthusiasm resulting in a discovery of leaders and ways and means for the establishing of a Sunday School organization and at least occasional preaching services. In results obtained through District and Community surveys facts are secured that give much useful and reliable information which may be used to guide one in ascertaining the real needs of these places, and how to intelligently go about to answer these needs in the most helpful way to those who are to be aroused to the knowledge of what they can do toward maintaining the work of God's kingdom and the presentation of Christ Jesus as personal Lord and Saviour, and character development that expresses itself in Christ-like fellowship and service.

Emphasizes Evangelism

The Extension Program, as it reaches our small Sunday Schools and Mission areas, not only brings the knowledge and information in the successful operation of the Sunday School to the accomplishment of its aim and purpose, but also emphasizes evangelism as one of the vital elements included in the Sunday School organization. No Sunday School can effectively accomplish its aim unless evangelism is a dynamic force at work in the organization and a consuming desire in the hearts of those who are the leaders.

Encourages Continuous Evangelism

Evangelism should be going on all the time in every Sunday School. The lessons we teach should not be considered as an end in themselves, but a means to an end, and that end to be "right living." There is no greater opportunity outside the Christian home for reaching, teaching, and developing Christian character than that offered in the Sunday Schools. Every Sunday School worker should be an evangelist, whose unrelenting purpose is the leading of each individual to an acceptance of Jesus as their personal Saviour, and to continue in the closest relationship with them in touching their lives beyond the Sunday session in guiding aright their attitudes, thoughts, and relationships, keeping them atune with the truths taught on Sunday morning.

The Sunday School Extension Program seeks to reveal these possibilities of evangelism in the local Sunday Schools in order that this mighty force may be at work in all Sunday Schools even unto the least. We cannot minimize the invaluable worth of a human soul and its need for Christ, whether it be in a small Sunday School or large.

Encourages Best Effort With Equipment and Leadership

Many of our small Sunday Schools allow themselves to become paralized with an "inferiority complex" because of smallness in numbers, inadequate equipment, indifference, and discouragement. But this should never be permitted, because of its high purpose and opportunity in developing the spiritual life. With so many sources for valuable help always available to draw upon, and a willingness to use these sources for self-preparation, one can always bring much needed improvements that will arouse interest and enthusiasm.

Place of Large Sunday Schools

Though the ministry of the Extension Program is primarily for the small Sunday Schools, yet it has a definite place for the large Sunday Schools. The program of Missionary Education included in the Extension Program coming on each fourth Sunday is applicable to both large and small schools and this offers every school the chance of participating in a continuous program of Missionary Education which has as its purpose the presenting of vital Missionary information from definite fields of service that will lead to the education of every individual in a more sympathetic understanding of Missionary work and a wider vision of personal responsibility in successful operation of the church's great program of world evangelism.

The offerings taken during these programs gives one an opportunity of personally participating in a definite field of Missionary endeavor of which he has some knowledge, both at home and abroad.

And We Shall Know

Even with the information given in the Missionary programs, we may not give much thought to the widespread fields in which we are working or hardly consider the amazing results that may be accomplished, but when the Master will say: "In as much as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren—in the needy places of Louisiana, with Kim in Korea, or sharing in Christian service the Christ in China—ye have done it unto me."

We will be startled and say when was this done? And, yet again, remembering these things in which we took part, there comes unbounding joy to our hearts when we are able to see and know the fruits of our offerings.

I am writing hurriedly, and feel that I can best clearly give what I wish to by telling my own experience. This I wish to do simply.

The Board of Tracts and Christian Literature has several good pamphlets which can help you in having this class. "What Every Adult Candidate for Church Membership Should Know" and "The Church and Its Sacraments" are excellent for older children and adults, and can help you with younger children to a limited extent. Dr. Shackford's "Training Children for Church Membership" provides an excellent method.

However, I like to be rather free in handling the children's class. The pastor can break down any feeling of strangeness between him and the children in his attitude and management of this special group.

We always have singing. A good pianist will be found a help. Using the Standard Hymnal, it is good to point out its various indices, names of hymn tunes, the psalter, the ritual, the divisions of the book, and also what you consider to be the great church hymns. Where good music has prevailed in Sunday school training, this is not hard, and children like to show their taste and opinions.

We always have prayer. We have extempore prayer, and the Lord's prayer. That allows one to introduce the prayers from our ritual—prayers used when members are received, when persons are baptized, when the dead are buried, when a marriage is celebrated, when a church is dedicated. We use the prayer of confession in the sacrament. In a real way, we get behind the acts of the church into the hidden meaning.

Of course I use the Bible. The children bring their Bibles. There are certain Bible passages I like them to memorize. We always read the Commandments and Beatitudes. Sometimes I have brought Bible story books and loaned them to children who had not read them, and they passed them on in a reading circle. We discuss Bible books, stories, characters, and the Christ that looms throughout the Scriptures.

I use the Discipline. A Methodist ought to get acquainted with Methodist organization. We ask the children what they know about the local organization, and who heads up the Stewards, the League, the Missionary society. Sometimes our adult pride is punctured when they canot name a single steward or officer. I feel that we need to get over to these new members the real tasks of the church requiring leaders, and inspire them to fill these positions in later days. Often through the children's class a Methodist home wakes up and buys a Discipline. Of course, we use the Discipline to study our church vows.

There are other practical things. I take the class and walk around the building, looking at the church. We enter the door, and speak of how one should enter the church. We view the windows, especially if there are art windows, and tell the Bible stories pictured there. We look at the vestibule, the cornerstone, the bell, the Sunday school arrangement, and naturally discuss the work that we enterprise there for the Master.

But there is another book. The old darkey advertised: "Dere am three books in the promulgation of de gospel, de Bible book, de hymn book, an' de pocketbook. Come Sunday and bring all three." There is the pocketbook. So I talk finances to my children's class, and after explanations, give each new member a package of church envelopes and if possible receive from him, after consultation with his family, a definite pledge for the rest of the year.

It is a fine fellowship between the pastor and the children. We take pictures of the class. We sometimes have a "treat." We often ride the ones who live farthest home. Often mothers come to the class and enjoy it. We take plenty of time, extending the class over three or four weeks, but never longer than 45 minutes at a session. It is informal. And, most of all, I want to listen attentively to the questions that come from the children themselves.

Finally, the appointed Sunday comes—rather, Sundays. I prefer giving the service of baptism to those requiring it on one Sunday, and the reception of children as members on the following (and communion) Sunday. I make these occasions as impressive as I can, always including the parents, and adhering to the ritual.

Every pastor can make his own plan. Every pastor has his experience of Christian work with the children of his pastorate. We need to take plenty of time in this sacred task. Out of pastoral visiting, Sunday school evangelism, and a grip on our local situations, can come these delightful opportunities, that help our children to make for themselves a real and living faith in our Lord, and a lasting devotion to His church.

MISSIONS AND SUNDAY SCHOOL EXTENSION AT SUNDAY SCHOOL CONFERENCE ALEXANDRIA, LA., ON APRIL 2nd AND 3rd

Interesting Program Prepared

One of the interesting features of the coming state-wide Sunday School Conference in Alexandria, La., April 2nd and 3rd, is the coming of the Rev. F. Claude Adams, Extension Secretary of the North Texas Conference, with headquarters in Dallas, Texas.

Brother Adams has been Extension Secretary since 1925, coming into this work from the pastorate, where he did a notable work on a demonstration charge. He is eminently qualified for the position he now holds in his own Conference.

At the Conference he will speak on "Missions and Sunday School Extension" and "Teaching in Cokesbury Schools."

Brother Adams is a native Louisianian, and we are glad to invite him back home to participate with our Louisiana workers in this great Conference on Sunday school work.

We believe the greatest friends our Sunday School Missionary Program has are our faithful, loyal pastors and superintendents. At this time we are desperately in need of a large sum of money to take care of the deficit in our finances for the last three months caused by small attendance at Sunday school on account of bad weather conditions and sickness from flu.

We are appealing to your loyalty, faithfulness and understanding of our Fourth Sunday Missionary work to help us in this crisis by putting emphasis upon the Missionary Program on the fourth Sunday in March, taking the offering and sending immediately to Mr. A. M. Mayo, Lake Charles, La. We are hoping the offering on this Sunday will be the largest ever given on any fourth Sunday heretofore, and may we count on you to help us realize this, as just such an offering is needed to bolster our finances.

FEBRUARY WITH THE EXTENSION SECRETARY

During this month we have visited five Sunday schools in session—St. Francisville, Kentwood, Holden, Frost and Iota.

Cokesbury one-teacher schools were held at St. Francisville, Kentwood and Iota. Sickness and unfavorable weather conditions affected the attendance at these schools. The total enrollment was 20, and 15 credits were given.

While conducting a One-Teacher Cokesbury Training School at Kentwood we visited Tangipahoa, and Pine Ridge in the afternoon, presenting to the assembled workers facts about our Sunday School Extension Program and Missionary Education.

A Cokesbury school was scheduled for Friendship Church on the Walker charge, but on account of flood waters covering roads, was unable to carry out our first plans. But in company with the pastor, Rev. J. P. Bonnecarrere, we visited on Sunday, Holden and Frost in the morning, Livingston in the afternoon, and Holden again at night. On Monday night an institute was held with the workers of the Walker Sunday school, on Tuesday night with the workers of the Holden school, and Wednesday night with the workers of the Friendship school. All of these were held in spite of very unfavorable weather conditions. The attendance was exceptionally good.

Three "C" type wall charts were placed with Houma, Jackson and Kentwood. Five (5) sermons were preached. Twenty-four (24) days were on the field, and thirteen hundred seventy-eight (1378) miles were traveled to reach these different places.

From the office five hundred thirty-one (531) bulletins, "Missions and Sunday School Extension," were sent out.

ALEXANDRIA SUNDAY SCHOOL TO PRESENT SUNDAY SCHOL DAY PAGEANT

The Alexandria Sunday school has very kindly agreed to put on the Sunday school day pageant, "The Messenger of a New Day," during our state-wide Conference. The enthusiastic committee met February 22 and discussed plans. Sunday school workers, don't miss seeing this! Come to our state-wide Conference.

CHINA — KIM IN KOREA — LOUISIANA

Vol. II. Alexandria, La., April, 1929 No. 4

CONFERENCE SUPERINTENDENT URGES OBSERVANCE SUNDAY SCHOOL DAY

EXTENSION PROGRAM HELPS ONE SMALL SUNDAY SCHOOL

Mrs. J. P. Robertson, Superintendent

Our present organization came to ember, 1927, when a small group of inember, 1929, when a small group of interested people met with our pastor, Brother J. H. Hoffpauir, and our Sunday School Extension Secretary, Brother A. K. McLellan, and a superintendent and six teachers were chosen and a time set to begin work. On the third Sunday, I believe, of November, at 9:45 A. M., we met for our opening. Brother McLellan having sent us enough literature to begin with. Several thought that twenty children would be all that could be found. But one worker at least spent all the week visiting homes. (not a regular survey) as living here many years knew about where to go. But, after studying the situation over here for at least two years, knew who was not connected in any other Sunday School or had dropped out. Most everyone welcomed the good news and promised to be present for the Opening Session.

To our surprise we had over sixty the first Sunday, six classes were organized. Six teachers were ready to go to work with all the light they had and anxious to learn more.

The Superintendent arranged all the classes and even the first session was well carried on in quiet reverence. We were assisted by Brother McLellan in buying Bibles and song books, and with his help and suggestions we got material for a fine Christmas program. Our once deserted little church was packed full to see and hear.

Our Sunday School is still growing, not in number, because two or three families have moved away, but in practicing the presence of God, and a little more knowledge of the Bible.

We hope all will accept Him as their personal Saviour, but as yet we have not exactly carried out the requirements of Decision Day, because we were not ready. We observed Easter with a fitting program in 1928, also Mother's Day.

Sickness and bad weather and some indifference has been discouraging at times, but we know all cannot be sunshine. We know with Jesus as our Leader and Captain we cannot fail.

This is a much needed work and a wonderful opportunity to prove that we meant it when we said, "I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord. O'er mountain, plain or sea. I'll say what you want me to say, dear Lord, I'll be what you want me to be."

We cannot be even recognized as a Standard Sunday School, but this last week in February we are completing our First Teacher Training Class and hope to hold out in patience until we can add the needed things to make our Sunday School "C" Type. And last, but not least, every member genuinely saved to useful service for Jesus, our King. I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the House of the Lord."

SCOPE OF BULLETIN ENLARGED

With this issue the bulletin becomes not only an organ for the promotion of Missions and Sunday School Extension, but also for the entire work of the Conference Sunday School Board. Dr. C. D. Atkinson, Conference Superintendent, has kindly consented to join with us in the publication of the Bulletin each month. So, henceforth, our readers will have the opportunity of reading about the whole program of the Sunday School work in our Conference each month and we welcome contributions and suggestions from all our Sunday School workers and pastors throughout the conference.

FROM THE MONROE DISTRICT

With reference to our fourth Sunday offering will say that I am doing everything possible to bring our schools up to 100 per cent for missions. This, I realize, will require some time, but by earnest effort on the part of those in charge, it can and will be done.

Very much to my regret, owing to business conditions, I have been unable to give but little of my time to our district work.

W. D. HARRISON,
Supt., Missionary Education.

Successful Observance Bolsters Conference Program

I am sure if we stop to think where we get our funds for Conference and District Sunday School work, we would all become interested in the observance of Sunday School Day.

Importance of Offering.

We all know that funds for public school education come from public taxation, but funds for Religious Education come from volunteer offerings, which is given on what we call"Sunday Shool Day." Our General Conference realizing the importance of this day has made it the duty of presiding elders, pastors and superintendents to see that this day is observed with an offering in every Sunday School.

Funds Promote District and Elementary Work.

Last year the offering in our Conference amounted to $1,763.54, according to report of the Conference Treasurer, Mr. A. M. Mayo, of Lake Charles. The Conference north of us, the Little Rock Conference, gave $5,000.00 instead of $1,763.54. In many other items we lead the Little Rock Conference in Sunday School work. One year we raised in our conference $3,000.00. This year one-half of the Sunday School Day offering has been set aside by the Conference Board for District Work and the other half for Elementary Work. These two important features should appeal to everyone of our 41,148 Sunday School members.

Last Year's Record.

Several of our District leaders, Presiding Elders and District Secretaries are planning as never before to make a special effort this year to observe this day in a worth while way. The Sunday School Day record for last year, according to districts, as follows:

Shreveport District	$402.97
New Orleans District	397.02
Lake Charles District	197.16
Ruston District	178.10
Baton Rouge District	174.05
Monroe District	170.18
Alexandria District	148.21
Minden District	95.83

LAST PAGE BULLETIN CONTAINS IMPORTANT INFORMATION

See What Your School Is Doing

In order to keep our schools well informed regarding their offering each month and the regularity of observance, there is published on page four of our bulletin, "Missions and Sunday School Extension," the Sunday schools by districts. Opposite each school are three columns. Under the first is listed the number of times remitted; second, the amount for the present month; third, total amount given.

To keep these items accurate, it will be necessary for each school to send in to Mr. A. M. Mayo, Lake Charles, their offering each month promptly after the fourth Sunday.

We hope this page will be watched and studied closely, because of its important bearing on the finances necessary for the successful operation of our Extension Program, not only in Louisiana, but with Kim in Korea and Christ in China.

CONFERENCE SUPT. URGES OBSERVANCE OF SUNDAY SCHOOL DAY

Sample Programs Available.

Sample programs of Sunday School Day have been sent to each superintendent, and we hope there will be a great revival in Sunday School Day observance in 1929.

122 Observed Last Year.

Records show we have 323 Sunday Schools and last year 122 realized the importance of cooperation in the Conference and District work. We hope the other 201 will repent and gladly carry out the whole program of the church in Religious Education this year.

This conference has helped to impress upon me the importance of religious education and the responsibility facing the church in this respect. It has helped me to see clearly the duty of every Christian in helping to do the work of the kingdom in His own way and in his own place.—Mrs. R. L. Clayton, Gueydan.

What The Conference Meant To Others

The conference has been very enjoyable and inspirational. The fellowship has been fine, and the speakers the best anywhere.—J. H. Carter, New Orleans.

I am glad to have been privileged to attend this convention. I have been helped spiritually, inspirationally and mentally. I hope to carry back some of the helpful ideas I have received.—Mrs. E. D. Baker, Mangham, La.

Good fellowship, instructive addresses, a most interesting conference.—Rev. and Mrs. John B. Peters, New Orleans.

This has been a select conference of workers, speakers and methods that should produce efficient leadership among us.—Albert S. Lutz, D. D., P. E. Alexandria District.

The Sunday School conference is an occasion of fine Christian fellowship with those in great teachers' task and of great illumination and inspiration of principles and spirit of teaching the Christian way of life.—Rev. W. H. Giles, New Orleans.

The conference messages have been helpful and the fellowship fine as always. The Sunday School task must have our heart interest and an earnest, intelligent application of all we hear and learn—Rev. H. L. Johns, New Orleans, La.

This conference has deepened my religious experience. I have received information that will be of great value to me in my work. I wish to thank the Sunday School conference for what has come to me. It is not expressable in words.—Miss Ora Hooper, Lake Charles.

Been so pleased and surprised at the deep consecration and spirit of ministers and leaders and the lack of secretarian prejudices, and pleased with the great work of education going on in the churches.—Mrs. N. E. Oliver.

This conference has been an inspiration and help to me.—Rev. E. L. Cargill.

The methods of this convention have been of great help, but the inspiration gained has exceeded everything else.—Mrs. J. T. Harris, Rochelle, La.

MARCH WITH THE EXTENSION SECRETARY

The first Sunday in March we visited the Pollock Sunday School, using posters, explaining to them in a talk before the school some of the work we are doing through our Sunday School Extension program in Louisiana, and with Kim in Korea. Miss Hattie Walker is the efficient superintendent.

On Tuesday and Thursdays night, March 5 and 7, we had the opportunity of meeting with some of the workers of the Jena and Glenmora Sunday Schools, at which time we sought to explain our Dual Mission Special, and the work being done by our Sunday School workers through this plan. The pastors, Brothers Dufresne and Bogan gave their heartiest support to these meetings and spent much time and effort in preparing for them.

In company with Dr. A. S. Lutz, Presiding Elder of the Alexandria District, Wednesday, March 6, we visited Hineston, Melder and Lecompte in the interest of Standard Cokesbury Training Schools to be held for these charges at Hineston and Lecompte.

Sunday, March 10, we visited the Pineville Sunday School in the interest of the Standard Training School held there. In the evening, with Brother G. A. LaGrange, the pastor, we began a combined program of Sunday School work and preaching services each night at New Roads. The heavy rains did not permit us to finish our work here.

Sunday, March 17, we preached for Brother Poole, McDonoughville, at his morning service, and began a one-teacher Cokesbury Training School with his workers at the evening hour. Four credits were awarded.

At the Stewardship Conference, Hammond, March 21, for the Baton Rouge District, we represented the Conference Sunday School Board presenting the joint Stewardship Training Course, promoted by the General Sunday School Board and the Board of Lay Activities.

Promoting the Cokesbury Training School for the Lecompte-Cheneyville charge, Sunday, March 24, we visited the Sunday School at Cheneyville, and was at Lecompte for the morning and evening services. In this school, Dr. A. S. Lutz taught the Bible course, and the Extension Secretary the course on "The Organization and Administration of the Small Sunday School.

ELEMENTARY SECTION

Mis Lois Hammett, Conference Elementary Worker.

The Elementary workers who attended our Conference-Wide Conference spent two days of profitable study.

An informal meeting of District Elementary Superintendents and those workers assisting with program was held with Miss Mary Skinner at the Bentley Hotel Monday night. District work was discussed, and workers let me make a plea here that you help your District Elementary Superintendent in promoting Elementary work in your district.

Three sessions were held by the Elementary workers. On Tuesday afternoon Miss Skinner gave a general survey of the new programs of work, which as she so clearly emphasized, are to be guides to those workers interested in making real progress in Sunday School work.

On Wednesday morning Miss Skinner spent part of her time with the workers of the Nursery Department discussing their problems with them. The rest of her time was spent in discussing the new lesson materials with all of the Elementary workers. In this discussion Miss Skinner emphasized that the new curriculum is child centered, and not material centered, and that teachers should prepare their lessons in units and far in advance. This discussion on lesson materials was carried over to the Wednesday afternoon sessions. At this time we also discussed Vacation Church Schools. Anyone interested in this subject will want us to send them the list of material approved by our General Board.

In all of her discussions, Miss Skinner seemed to be putting elementary work on a sane and sensible basis. Too long our approach to childhood has been a sentimental one.

SPECIAL FEATURE FOR USE IN WORSHIP PROGRAM ON MISSIONARY SUNDAY

(Prepared by Dr. John R. Pepper, Memphis, Tenn.)

SUPERINTENDENT—Our special missionary feature for this fourth Sunday will be given by Ruth and Mary. (Instead of Ruth and Mary, use the names of the boys and girls taking part).

RUTH—Why do we call this Extension Sunday? Are they starting another special day in the Sunday School?

MARY—It isn't another special day. We call this extension Sunday since it is the day set apart to give special emphasis to our Extension program, and to let our schools know about the new plans for this year.

RUTH—Good! For there are some things about it that I don't understand. You always keep up on all these things. You are just the one to tell us about it.

MARY—Beginning with January, 1929, China instead of Europe became our special mission field.

RUTH—Yes, I knew that, but why was the change made?

MARY—It was the plan from the beginning of the Dual Special to change fields every year or two. We want all our schools to know something about all our mission fields, besides studying one field all the time would become tiresome.

RUTH—I am so glad that we will get to study about these great people, but will half our fourth Sunday offering carry on the work there?

MARY—It is a great undertaking for China cost our Mission Board more than $125,000 last year. However, our Sunday schools sent more than $152,000 to be used in the foreign fields last year. We will probably have a surplus for foreign work

RUTH—What will be done with that surplus?

MARY—In addition to our work in China, we shall have a full-time Sunday school worker in each of our foreign fields.

Display Dual Mission Poster—Picture of J. O. Kim.

RUTH—That is just grand. I am glad that we can all take part in such a great work. But whose picture is that? (Use Dual Mission Special poster).

MARY—That is a picture of our extension secretary, Rev. A. K. McLellan. His work is to help our Sunday school reach and influence for God those who have no connection with the church or only a very unsatisfactory one. Half of our fourth Sunday offerings is used in this work. He is really our home missionary. He is provided for by a joint plan between the Sunday School Board and the Mission Board of our church.

RUTH—Are there many extension secretaries in our church?

MARY—Yes, every conference in our home church except three have extension secretaries now. These three are now planning to put men in the field this year.

RUTH—I am glad to hear this. We certainly need such workers to help our Sunday schools that do not have large enough buildings or enough pupils to have separate departments for the different groups. What are some things that he does?

MARY—He traveled almost 16,891 miles last year among our Sunday schools.

RUTH—I will be glad when I am old enough to take training courses. How many credits did Mr. McLellan grant last year?

MARY—One hundred and ninety-two. That does not seem to be many, but the schools were often held in small churches where there were only a few to take the work. So many preachers are helping them that there will be several hundred increased this year. Brother McLellan spoke 125 times last year in interest of Sunday school work, taught 222 hours in Cokesbury Training Schools, and spent 215 days in the field. He places and scores programs of work for the Sunday schools. The people with whom Bro. McLellan works certainly say some nice things about how much help he is.

RUTH—It's a wonderful work. Since all fourth Sunday offerings go to support this great conference program and help support a Sunday school worker in each foreign field, and all of our work in China, in the future I shall give more liberally, more cheerfully, and more prayerfully.

MARY—I am glad to hear you say that. The object of the monthly missionary program is to let the people know just what their money is doing. We want everyone to know so much about the work that they will get a real blessing out of their giving.

Who and How Much

Wide-awake girls 14, 15 16 and 17 years who are eager to live joyously and abundantly for a week in our first camp may attend. The cost of attendance is only $5.00. This amount includes all expenses except textbook and personal incidentals. Each girl must bring towels, bed linens, blanket and all necessary toilet articles.

OBSERVE SUNDAY, MAY 26th, AS MISSIONARY DAY

WARREN A. CANDLER
1653 North Decatur Road
Atlanta, Ga.

April 22, 1929.

My dear Brother:

China is, perhaps, the greatest foreign mission field in the world at this time.

The work of our beloved Church in that populous country is of the first importance. Its success, or failure, must affect, for good or ill, all our missions in the Orient.

I am glad to know that the Sunday Schools of the Church will now concentrate their support on China, and I beg to exhort them to put forth the most abundant generosity on behalf of it.

The disturbances which have prevailed in China for some time past are now subsiding, and the oportunity of our Church there was never so wide and its obligation never so imperative. Will you not do all within your power to promote this great missionary enterprise?

Let presiding elders, pastors and Sunday School officers and teachers give the most zealous and persevering efforts to this end.

The Conference Superintendent and Extension Secretary of Sunday School work in your conference will gladly give you assistance, and will supply all the necessary literature, such as leaflets, reports, ets., that you may need. Call upon them freely for their help.

I rely upon the Sunday Schools in the Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences to lead in the support of our Churchs work in China.

Yours very truly,

W. A. CANDLER.

IN YOUR SUNDAY SCHOOL WITH PROGRAM AND OFFERING

SUNDAY SCHOOL DAY 1928 AND 1929

The New Orleans District led all Districts last year in the number of schools in the District observing Sunday School Day. They had 32 Sunday Schools with 25 observing the day. The seven not observing have promised to observe during 1929. This District hopes to reach the 100 per cent record, being the first District Methodism ever to reach this record, as far as we know, in Sunday School Day observance.

The Shreveport District led last year in the amount of the Sunday School Day offering with $402.99, against $397.02 from the New Orleans District. Much credit for this financial record must be given to First Church, Shreveport, which sent in an offering of $250.00. The twelve other schools gave $152.99, leaving 22 schools not reporting. The Presiding Elder and District Secretary hope to get these 22 schools in line this year.

The Lake Charles District made a fine report last year, and much of the credit must be given to the Presiding Elder. This District has 32 schools, and 19 observed Sunday School Day, leaving only 13 not reporting.

District Officers Urge The Observance of Missionary Day In Local Sunday Schools

Our District Officers are intensely interested in the success of our Missionary Educational program in the local schools. They are very busy carrying on their own particular work as some of them are local pastors, and others are in secular work. Yet, in the midst of the pressing demands upon their own time, they gladly take the initiative, as District Officers, in urging the observance of Missionary Day in the schools of their respective districts.

Urging the observance of Sunday, April 28, as Missionary Day in the Sunday School, the following letters were sent out by Mr. A. M. Mayo, Treasurer of our Conference Sunday School Board and also District Secretary of Sunday School Work of the Lake Charles District; Mr. W. D. Harrison, Superintendent of Missionary Education for the Monroe District, and the Rev. D. B. Boddie, Superintendent of Missionary Education for the Alexandria District:

My dear Superintendent:

Will you not make your plans to observe April 28th, the Fourth Sunday, as Missionary Day, with a program, and send the offering to me, as Treasurer of Sunday School Board?

I have not had a remittance from you since Conference, and our law says to do it. Paragraph 386 of the 1926 Discipline.

You will find it beneficial in many ways. If you will do this, it will make ours the first District in the Conference to have 100 per cent. We rely on you.

Yours most truly,
(Signed) A. M. MAYO,
District Secretary.

Dear Superintendent:

This is to call your attention to the fact that many of our Monroe District Sunday Schools are not observing Missionary Sunday, which very much retards the work of our Conference Board.

I trust your school is not one to neglect so great a privilege. However, if you failed to forward your last Fourth Sunday offering to Bro. A. M. Mayo, Lake Charles, please see to it that your offering the fourth Sunday in April be sent to him.

Wishing for you every success in your Sunday School work, I am,

Very truly yours,
(Signed) W. D. HARRISON,
Supt. Missionary Education.

Dear Brother:

For some reason or another we have not been very regular with our Fourth Sunday Missionary Offering from the Sunday Schools. I have had trouble with my own as well.

It is hard to get the amount sent in promptly. It may be that this is your trouble, also.

Will you join with me next Sunday in "jogging" up our Treasurers and see if our District cannot make a better showing?

Fraternally yours,
(Signed) D. B. BODDIE.

These letters are going to bring results, we are confident, and are deeply appreciative of the efforts of these workers in securing the largest observance possible among our Sunday Schools each Fourth Sunday as Missionary Day.

Let us add the vastly important necessity of observing Missionary Day with a well-prepared, vitally presented Missionary Program. No Missionary Day observance can possibly be complete unless the offering made by the school is a part of the Missionary Program given in the Sunday School on this day. To ask an offering without giving the information possible in a program, is defeating the very purpose of Missionary Education in the Sunday School. The Missionary Program must give vital missionary facts which arouse in the individual the desire to respond to a participation in the activities carried on in this certain Missionary project.

MAP OF CHINA

The dark shaded portion of this map shows the location of our Mission. A portion of our Dual Special Offerings raised each fourth Sunday goes here. Our main stations in China are Shanghai, Soochow, Changchow, Wusih, Nanking, and Sungkiang. This small area has a population of over 5,000,000.

The Training School issuing the largest number of credits up to date this year is the West Shreveport School. We have had six Training Schools up to this time, with Mrs. R. E. Smith teaching in four of them and Dr. A. S. Lutz teaching in three.

The Baton Rouge School is now in its eighth session. The attendance and spirit is much larger and better than their first school.

The pastor at Winnsboro, Rev. W. S. Henry, will be out of the State during the date of the Standard Training School, June 2-7, attending the graduation exercises at Lander College, South Carolina, where his daughter graduates. His neighbor pastor, Rev. O. L. Tucker, will act as Educational Director in this School. Brother Tucker put over a great school at Amite last year and, no doubt, the school at Winnsboro will make a good record under his supervision. Rev. J. W. Faulk is Chairman of the Board of Managers.

APRIL WITH THE EXTENSION SECRETARY

The first week in April was given over to preparation for and attendance on the Sunday School Conference in Alexandria, April 2nd and 3rd.

Sunday, April 7th, with Brother J. M. Boykin, pastor, we began a Cokesbury Training School at Tunica on the St. Francisville Charge. The sessions of the school were held in the afternoon, and each evening a preaching service was held. The Extension Secretary, at request of Brother Boykin, did the preaching. Brother A. E. Rogillio, Superintendent of the Sunday School, 21 years old, took credit in the school.

April 14th and days following were spent with Brother R. L. Clayton at Gueydan and Kaplan. We visited the school at Kaplan in the morning. It was found necessary to have a class at Gueydan in the evenings, and in the afternoons we put on the same course at Kaplan for the workers there.

With the Presiding Elder, Dr. A. S. Lutz, teaching "What Every Methodist Should Know," and the Extension Secretary the course on "Missions," a Standard Approved Cokesbury Training School was held April 21-25 at Hineston, Melder Charge, Rev. P. S. Carpenter, pastor. On Sunday we visited the Sunday School at Melder and preached at 11:00 o'clock.

Friday, April 26th, we left for a visit to our Sunday School at Grand Chenier, Cameron Parish, via Lake Charles and Lake Arthur. The trip from Lake Arthur to Grand Chenier was made by boat. Sunday we visited the Sunday School and preached both morning and evening at the request of the pastor, Rev. R. L. Clayton, who was with us on this visit. In the afternoons a One-Teacher Cokesbury Training School was held, and the evenings were given over to preaching services, conducted by the pastor, Brother Clayton.

MOUNT SEQUOYAH OR LAKE JUNALUSKA, WHICH?

All Sunday School workers east of the Mississippi are expected to look to Junaluska as their "Summer Capitol," and all west of the Mississippi to Mount Sequoyah. The Mississippi divides our State, so that we have two Leadership Schools to choose from, yet we are officially related to Mount Sequoyah, as it is nearer.

The leaders have so booked these schools as to put the Mount Sequoyah School first, July 7-20, and the first term of the Lake Junaluska School July 22-August 6, and second term August 8-22.

Special courses on the Interpretation of the New Programs of Work will be given in all three sessions, with Miss Mary Skinner instructor in the Elementary Section, Mr. O. S. Gates of the Adolescent Section and Mr. O. W. Moerner of the General Section.

Two Seminar Courses will be given, one on Training Work and the other on Extension Work.

The following Louisiana Sunday School workers have expressed desire to attend one of these Leadership Schools: Dr. W. Winans Drake, Miss Lois Hammett, and Reverends H. L. Johns, B. C. Taylor, A. K. McLellan, W. H. Giles, and Mr. T. W. Holloman.

"HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS" IN TRAINING WORK

In a recent Standard Training School there were several High School boys and girls taking the course on "The Small Sunday School." I will give below what some of them said as to what this course had meant to them.

1. Girl: "This class has meant more to me along Sunday School line of work than any information of lesson I have ever heard. I will try now to improve our class and Sunday School to the best of my ability, as I see we can do much better."

2. Boy: "This course on 'The Small Sunday School' has made me feel the importance of the Sunday School more. It also makes us feel the responsibility upon the officers of the Sunday School."

3. Girl: "This is the first credit I have ever obtained, but I feel sure that none of the others could give me more pleasure. I am looking forward to taking another course this summer."

4. Boy: "This Training Class has given me a better idea of how to organize a Sunday School, and how to carry on the work of the Sunday School. It has also made me have a better vision of Christ, and I am going to try and do better in my Sunday School work."

5. Girl: "This course has meant a great deal to me. It has helped me to understand how a small school should be conducted. It has given me an opportunity to learn the Special Days and their significance. It also brought out the point that our Sunday School is a great evangelistic agency."

PRESIDING ELDERS BOOST SUNDAY SCHOOL DAY

District Secretaries Also Urge Observance

Alexandria

"Hope every school will observe Sunday School Day, will do all I can to urge upon the pastors and superintendents to put on the program." —A. S. Lutz, D. D., Presiding Elder.

Baton Rouge

"The outlook for the Sunday School Day observance in Baton Rouge District is not as good as it should be, but we hope a circular letter addressed to the superintendents will bring forth sufficient response to exceed our last year's effort.—D. B. Talley District Secretary.

"I believe our district will do as well if not better than last year on Sunday School Day offering. Pastors all promise to observe."—J. W. Lee, Presiding Elder.

Lake Charles

"We have received more offerings up to date this year than at the same date last year for the Lake Charles District. We are trying for 100%. —A. M. Mayo, District Secretary.

Minden

"I am insisting all over the District that Sunday School Day be observed. Will do my best to get the boys lined up."—W. R. Harvell, Presiding Elder.

Shreveport

"Brother Nelson and I are pulling for a 100% observance of Sunday School Day this year."—H. T. Carley, D. D., Presiding Elder.

THE CHURCH AND WORLD REDEMPTION

Missions In Church School Means Missionary Minded Church

The paramount feature of our Dual Mission Special in the church schools of the Louisiana Conference is its possibility for creating a Missionary Minded Church.

Church School and Church of Tomorrow

Whatever the church of tomorrow may resemble it is certain the church school will have much to do with its determination. The bedrock of this responsibility rests upon the leaders in each local church. If they fail because of indifference, lack of preparation, or any of the other faults that mire the wheels of the successful ongoing of the church school, the church of tomorrow will reflect this same indifference in the loss of power it should have instilled in the hearts and souls of those so recent from its school of Christian instruction.

Missionary or Not?

If the church of tomorrow is to be a Missionary Church, the church of today must make it so, by putting the world program of Jesus into the heart of the child, by leading him to see the need of a Christless world through the eyes of Jesus, and by creating in him attitudes and impulses of service that will release personal and financial resources in a sacrificial, self-giving, that will have continuity with the self-giving of Jesus.

Our Opportunity

The present leadership of our church schools have their opportunity in creating a future church which shall be thoroughly missionary by sympathetically, intelligently, and dynamically administering a program

HI GIRLS' CAMP SESSION BEGINS SATURDAY NOON

Registrations Satisfactory.

The camp opens Saturday, June 1, at noon, with an interesting program. Gathered around the dinner table we will have a glorious time getting acquainted. A part of the afternoon will be spent in organizing the classes and assigning the lessons, but all work and no play would make Jill a dull girl, so Mr. Elliott, the "Y" secretary, is planning some games to be followed by a swim. After supper during vesper, we will thank the Hevenly Father for the beauty of the great out-of-doors, and finally the day will be brought to a close by a "peppy" campfire program.

We are limited to 35 girls, and we have prospects of having a full camp, as 33 girls have already made inquiry. The following Sunday schools will be represented: Alexandria, Pineville, Opelousas, Lafayette, Winnfield, Shreveport, Mansfield, Rochelle, and Bogalusa.

MAY WITH THE EXTENSION SECRETARY

The week of April 5-10 was spent in Baton Rouge teaching the Cokesbury Course on "Missions" in the Standard Training School. We visited the First Church Sunday school and at the morning service assisted Dr. Wells in the administration of the sacrament. In the evening, on invitation of Brother J. H. Bowdon, the pastor, preached to a large and attentive congregation at Keener Memorial.

Sunday, April 12, the Delhi Sunday School, Rev. O. W. Spinks, pastor, and R. E. Wollank, superintendent, gave a beautiful Mothers' Day program. At the morning service, Brother Spinks preached a beautiful mothers' sermon to a large congregation. At the evening hour, on invitation of the pastor, we conducted the services.

Tuesday and Wednesday, May 14 and 15, the Alexandria and Lake Charles District Conferences were visited in session at Oakdale and Crowley. Each presiding elder graciously gave opportunity for the work of the Sunday school to be presented. The Extension Secretary presented the work of our Dual Mission Special, stressing particularly Missionary Education in the Sunday school.

The committee on Sunday School Day Observance at Rayne Memorial Sunday school invited the Extension Secretary to participate in the Sunday school day program to be presented at the 11 o'clock hour. At the Sunday school hour we were privileged to speak before the Senior Department, Miss Fannie E. Norman, superintendent, on our "Missions and Sunday School Extension Program in the Louisiana Conference.

In the evening we had the privilege of attending the very impressive presentation of the pageant, at Carrolton Avenue Church, Rev. H. L. Johns, pastor, and Mr. J. H. Carter, superintendent.

A Cokesbury One-Teacher School had been planned for the Pine Ridge Sunday school, Natalbany charge, Sunday, May 26, but on account of a raging epidemic of measles it was not possible to carry through these plans.

SURVEYING CHURCHES ON CHARGES WITHOUT SCHOOLS

We are at present in the midst of a survey of churches in all of our districts without Sunday schools for the purpose of discovering facts helpful in understanding the cause of such conditions, and the remedy, if any.

This information will be used, if completed in time in the Extension Secretaries Group at Lake Junaluska this summer. This is why we are urging our pastors who receive these questionaires to return them as promptly as possible.

In conference with Presiding Elders we find an antonishing number of churches in the districts without Sunday schools. There are approximately 75 churches in our conference without Sunday schools. A large number of these can be reorganized.

The recurring answer to the question, Why discontinued? is lack of leadership and interest. Our Cokesbury Leadership Training Course is admirably fitted to give useful information to the present and prospective leadership in such situations. We have seen the greatest interest aroused in a very small school as a result of a successful Cokesbury Training School.

THE CHURCH AND WORLD REDEMTION

of missionary education in the church school that shall result in rich returns in heart and soul made earnestly and genuinely missionary.

The Missionary Program

The church school session on each fourth Sunday offers an opportunity for presenting missionary information from the fields which the church schools support. The first twenty minutes of this Sunday session should be used in presenting to the school through a well prepared missionary infused, dynamically presented missionary program, giving definite information about the work of the Extension program in Louisiana, what Kim is doing in Korea, and the work being done in the great China Mission Field.

The Offering

When the program has presented the Missionary information for the day the offering should be made an expression of the interest created in the group. Intelligent giving brings about more liberal and enthusiastic participation. The offering must become a part of the Missionary Educational effort if it is to be sustained and maintain its correct relation to the missionary information given through the programs presented on each fourth Sunday.

The Price of Neglect

Can the pastors, Sunday school superintendents, teachers, etc., neglect so great an opportunity? There is something fundamentally wrong with the leadership of any Sunday school which makes no effort to give opportunity for study on each fourth Sunday the Missionary activity of the Mission Fields in which the Louisiana Church Schools work, (Louisiana, Kim in Korea, China), and, at the same time through interest created by the information given opportunity be given for expressing this interest in World Redemption in some definite form of service.

Brother pastor, Sunday school superintendent, leaders, are you striving today for a missionary church tomorrow?—or, is it that you have no care?

Missions and Sunday School Extension, New Orleans District

We are delighted to give to our readers some of the work Mrs. L. D. Chaffee, superintendent or Missionary Education, New Orleans District, is doing to promote Missionary Day observance throughout the district. We hope our district superintendents will continue to furnish us with the promotional literature they use in calling attention to Missionary Sunday each month.—(Ed.)

The New Orleans District Sunday school meeting is to be congratulated on having Miss Lois Hammett with us at Louisiana Avenue Church on last Sunday. Miss Hammett brought an interesting and helpful message. I feel confident of an increasing interest in the cause of missions in our district during the coming months.

Mrs. Salassi has been appointed superintendent of Sunday school at Slidell. She is planning to observe each fourth Sunday with an instructive Missionary program.

Second Church is generously supporting our Dual Mission Special this year.

Mrs. Clarence Snelling, elementary superintendent, gave me the privilege to present "Missions" at her "institute" held during the District Conference last week in Algiers. The elementary workers are loyal supporters of the Missionary program of our Sunday School Board. "The Elementary Teacher" contains excellent material for building Missionary programs. I am urging the schools in our district to try the attractive "Missionary Offering Envelope." They can be purchased from Lamar and Whitmore at 35c per thousand.

MRS. L. D. CHAFFE,

District Supt. Missionary Education, New Orleans District.

"THEY KNOW NO OTHER WAY"

"If we sailed away for many a day
To a country far over the seas,
What would be our surprise to open our eyes
Surrounded by little Chinese!
And how sad we would feel to see them all kneel
To idols of stone or of clay.
And to hear them reply when we questioned them why,
It's because we know no other way.

Or if we should land in far-off Korea
Where even the children drink tea
Their homes and their names, their clothes and their games
Would seem strange to you and to me.
But when we had heard that they know not a word
Of God's book, or God's house, or God's day
We'd understand why to their idols they fly
It's because they know no other way.

So all the world round, wherever are found
These children, who've never been told,
Of Jesus our King, whose praises we will sing
From now till the time when we're old,
No matter how far, nor how close by they are
We must find them by night or by day
And tell them of Jesus, the Helper of all
For He is the only true way."

March 18, 1929.

Sunday School and Missionary Superintendents, New Orleans District.

Dear Co-Workers:

To be given the entire support of our missionary work in China is indeed a distinct honor that has come to the two million Sunday school membership of our Southern Methodist Church.

China has an authentic history older than any other nation. It contains one-quarter of the population of the world. It has a hundred dialects and no national language.

For eighty years our church has poured forth rich lives into missionary work in China. Rev. Chas, Taylor and Benj. Jenkins went to China in 1848; Rev. and Mrs. Cunnyngham in 1852; Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Lambuth in 1854; Rev. Young J. Allen in 1860; Rev. Parker in 1875; Rev. W. R. Lambuth in 1877; Miss Rankin in 1878; Miss Laura Haygood in 1884.

What will the Sunday schools of the New Orleans District do toward sending the Gospel message to China during 1929? China is big—Jesus Christ can make China great. The Sunday schools of our Louisiana Conference have "Kim in Korea," who is serving a very large field in a most effective way. We have 303 Sunday schools in Korea, with a membership of 935 officers and teachers and 10,265 students. What a golden opportunity for service, is ours in the foreign field, at home we have our own Rev. A. K. McLellan, Extension Secretary, and Miss Lois Hammett, Conference Elementary Superintendent and Associate Extension Secretary. These secretaries are doing a magnificent work right here in our own state—endeavoring to give to every man and woman, boy and girl an opportunity to possess the best gift—the religion of Jesus. Our part in this work is to see that instructive, helpful missionary programs are presented to our Sunday school on missionary day, which is the fourth Sunday of every month in the year. To encourage our membership to make a generous offering on each fourth Sunday and to see that the treasurer of each school forwards that offering to Mr. A. M. Mayo, Lake Charles, La. before the tenth of each month.

Yours faithfully,

MRS. L. D. CHAFFEE,

Dist. Missionary Supt.

A WORSHIP PROGRAM

Last month we published a very suggestive criticism on a worship program. Below is a worship program as it was carried out in a school. Compare this with the criticism of last month:

The program began 13 minutes late amid loud talking. The bell was severely pounded.

Opening hymn, "If Jesus Goes With Me." While singing the superintendent began to hunt for another hymn.

"Fine! Fine! Be seated."

"Let's sing No. 232. A good lively song, "More Like the Master," bear down on it."

"Be seated."

The Sunday school lesson was read instead of the devotional reading, and the superintendent tried to talk about missionaries.

Prayer without relation to other parts of the program.

The Golden Text was called for.

A wild scramble to classes.

The closing scene.

Another wild scramble coming back from classes.

Report, and another talk by the superintendent.—Sunday School Messenger, West Texas Conference.

SUMMER SUNDAY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE EFFECTS MISSIONARY OFFERINGS

Since the work of the Dual Mission Special (Louisiana, Kim in Korea, and China), depends for its financial success upon the fourth Sunday offerings as its sole means of support we can readily understand how the Sunday school attendance will have a serious effect upon the stability of the size of offerings given each month.

The Sunday School Extension program in the Louisiana Conference receives 50 per cent of the total amount of these monthly offerings, thus, one is able to see how seriously a dropping off in Sunday school attendance will effect the financial program of the Sunday School Extension program, and therefore, hamper the on-going of the work in Louisiana, and at the same time the work in Korea and China.

We are going to need the sympathetic cooperation of all our Sunday schools for these next few months especially. May we urge you to observe the fourth Sunday in July with a well prepared program thoughtfully presenting Missionary information to your school which will do much toward creating interest and also in determining the amount of the offering given. We feel sure your interest in the work confirms our confidence in your support.

Kim Sends Message to Louisiana Co-workers

KIM SENDS MESSAGE TO LOUISIANA CO-WORKERS

Just a year ago this month Brother Kim made his visit to Louisiana. The Sunday School workers of Louisiana remember this visit most pleasantly, and so we give in other columns, some messages from Kim and his work in Korea, though he isn't here in person to deliver these messages and make known his needs, yet we feel he is visiting again through the printed pages of our bulletin.

We give you his letter and other messages as they came to us, and feel that you cannot fail to be appreciative of Brother Kim's work, and sympathetic with his needs.

Let us not forget Kim in Korea on the fourth Sunday in July, his work, nor his needs. Plan a program that will include these items from Kim, that the interest created may result in the largest offering of any month this year.

JUST A SHORT NEWS

The following letter will give a good idea as to our Sunday school work during the last half a year. In general we may say that there is a new hope and a feeling of success due to the activity of our workers. I might say that that is the greatest joy of all.

SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTES

Number of Institutes—About thirteen institutes have been held, and before the end of the conference year more will be held.

Attendance—Those who attended institutes for credit this year have been for the most part high school graduates and college students. I like to mention just a few of the most interesting institutes. They are the institutes which were held at Tong Chun, Songdo, and Seoul, etc.

KOREA CONFERENCE S. S. BOARD

June 10, 1929.

Rev. A. K. McLellan, P. O. Box 477, Alexandria, La., U. S. A.

Dear Brother McLellan:

It has been for some time since I heard from you. This is very hot day. It reminds me of the days with you when I was at the States. I have been so busy to catch up for our program. This is the most fruitful year in the history of our Sunday School work of Korea. We had so many more training schools than before. Some new schools have been organized since last conference.

Brother McLellan, how is your work getting along? The trip which I made last year to the States means great for the Sunday School work. I do not believe any mean to the home States but was good to me. We are planning for our summer conference. We are going to have it from July 30 to August 8. I will send you a copy of our program for the Leaders' Training School.

I intended to send you some picturesa and some reports very often, I am so sorry that was not so. I do not mean that I do not have to tell you but I do not have any time to write. This time I am inclosed herewith two different news, the report of our work, please find. I wish you will understand the needs of our Sunday School work. This is the real time to train the church leaders. I think you might remember about the great revival which was on in Korea some years ago. But now is the time to teach them to be a real Christian.

We are hard up with running expenses. I will say that we are in debt. I wish you gets our magazine, "Sunday School Teacher." We do not have any regular budget for this but we do this because we have to have it. I like to work but sometimes it is impossible for me to make up the plan.

Write me if you have time. With the best wishes and love, I am yours,

Sincerely,

J. O. KIM.

The daylight hours were used for classes and the night periods given over to revival service, which were attended by about 400 people.

Attendance: The delegates numbered about one hundred, seventeen of whom came from Tong Chun city church.

Credits were given to 56 persons, each of whom successfully completed two courses.

Finances were as usual with these institutes, the Conference Sunday School Board paying the expenses of the teachers and one-half of the expenses of each delegate.

The atmosphere of the institute was good. There was a spirit of power and joy. Some of the delegates had walked on foot as far as 400 li (130 miles) in order to attend. Their feet were so painfully swollen that they could not walk back, and had to be sent by motor car. They spent five days on the roads. I am sending you a picture of them.

Songdo District Institute—Songdo District Institute was about the same as the one at Tong Chun except that there was a parade of about one thousand people, young and old. Specially, we were interested in the pageant which was given by the children from all over the district. Of course, the children walked on foot. Some children walked as far as one hundred li. But they did not seem tired while they were singing and playing.

Seoul City Institute—The sessions were limited to the evening hours and those attending were mostly teachers and college students. Forty-two took courses for credit and the entire institute was in pleasant contrast to the one of the previous year. There was a serious and studious attitude that makes us feel that we have reason to thank God for the progress in the Sunday school work.

Our Sunday School Magazine—'The Sunday School Teacher,' this publication began last February and has a very interesting and diversified make-up.

The Main Contents—Articles on Religious Education; Sunday school news, conference and local and broad; Sunday school group graded lessons for primary, junior, and intermediate groups; stories for children; Boy Scout materials; Epworth League programs, etc.

Results—Many have expressed satisfaction, and say, "Now the Sunday school has something to work with." Over twenty new Sunday Schools have been organized. I am glad to say that we can give something in our Sunday school teachers' and pupils' hands in order to read by themselves.

Sunday School Literature— The principles of religious teaching; general psychology; How we got the Bible—all these are ready for the printer.

I am hoping to hear some one in home states saying, "I will give a check to the Korea Conference Sunday School Board for the literature."

JUNE WITH THE EXTENSION SECRETARY

June 1st to 5th we assisted Rev. C. D. Atkinson, director of the camp, in the Cokesbury Leadership School conducted in connection with the camp.

Thursday, June 6, we were in attendance upon the sessions of the Baton Rouge District Conference at Ponchatoula. As secretary of the committee on Sunday Schools and Epworth Leagues, we read this report before the conference.

On Saturday, June 8, we had planned for a preaching service at Strange church, Bienville charge, five miles from Chestnut, but rain prevented the service. Sunday morning we visited their Sunday school and spoke to them at that hour.

The next two weeks, June 9, following, were spent teaching a Cokesbury course in the Vacation Bible school at Houma. Practically every church in the French field was represented in this class. Sunday, the 16th, we visited tht Point-au-Chene Sunday school, and had the privilege of speaking to them about Sunday school work. Tuesday night, we had the honor of participating in the regular Workers' Council meeting of the Houma Sunday school.

June 23-27 was spent in Ringgold with Rev. W. W. Perry and E. B. Gillon, superintendent, conducting a one-teacher Cokesbury Leadership school for the local church leadership.

The fifth Sunday, with preaching on Saturday night, we will be with Brother Bonnecarrere and his workers at Friendship. A Cokesbury one-teacher training school will be held.

SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE IN KOREA, M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH

Development of Sunday School Institute—It was only about five years ago that we began our work in Sunday School Institutes in Korea. There had been nothing of the kind previously, and naturally there were many difficulties. In attempting work among Korean young people we felt it necessary to interest the better educated young men and women, there was indifference on their part. And in addition, there was a lack of specially trained religious education workers. Then, too, there were no Sunday School textbooks in Korean for institute use. And, finally, there were no suitable meeting places to be had under any conditions.

However, in the last two years we have seen the results of the earlier work. A number of educated young people are interested and with proper guidance will be able to lead many others. There are a few specially trained religious education workers, although more are needed. There is an increasing amount of study material available in Korean through the adaptation of some of the Standard and Cokesbury courses to the local situation, though the amount is still quite inadequate. As to adequate and proper meeting places for our in-summer, no progress has been made, stitutes, especially those held in the and it is still necessary to obtain the use of places belonging to the Buddhists and to other non-Christian sects.

Present System of Institutes—The present system of institutes consists of three kinds—those held in the local charge or circuit, the District Institutes, and the Conference Institute or Summer Assembly.

Local Institute—In the local institute the pastor, the District Sunday School worker, and the Conference Sunday School Secretary do all the teaching, the District Sunday School worker, himself a pastor in the district, being director. The teachers receive no compensation for their services in the institutes, but their expenses are met from the budget of our Conference Sunday School Board of Korea. The students, however, meet their own expenses in this institute. The curriculum consists of two study courses, adapted from the Standard or Cokesbury courses, which are approved by the Korea Conference Sunday School Board. These are given in the morning and afternoon hours and in the evening hours there are lectures. The students are the Sunday School teachers and officials of the local church or circuit.

"French Mission Special"

Missions and Sunday School Extension

CHINA — KIM IN KOREA — LOUISIANA

Vol. II. ALEXANDRIA, LA., AUGUST, 1929 No. 8

DAILY VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL, HOUMA, LA.

Two Weeks Session, McDonell School

The Vacation Bible school held each year in June in the Houma Mission school is far-reaching and effective. Groups of children from all the rural Sunday schools of the section and some from hitherto untouched communities assemble for the Bible school and are entertained as guests in the school dormitories. These, together with the day pupils from Houma form a happy, responsive group and they develop more, mentally, spiritually, and physically, in this brief period of intensive learning and living than one could deem possible.

Miss Juanita Brown, who was an interested guest in the school last year, gives some interesting glimpses in her notes.

"The School in Action."

"It was the last week in June. Suddenly a chorus of voices broke the stillness. One hundred and fifteen little French boys and girls fairly burst into the out of doors! Almost simultaneously the walks resounded with roller skates; it was the recreation period of the Daily Vacation Bible school. The younger children sought a sandpile and swing under the shade of the big oak. 'Julien,' 'Cyprien,' 'Louis' were the names that often floated into my window. There was fun going on, for there were game leaders directing one delightful game after another.

"Soon there was an orderly return to the assembly hall, and the music and words of such beautiful hymns as, 'For the Beauty of the Earth,' 'We've a Story to Tell to the Nations,' and 'The World's Children for Jesus' sounded through the building.

"Such a scampering when the bell rang for dinner, but never more noiseless feet and silent lips than when the entrance of the dining hall was reached. When the last person was in place a small boy offered a prayer of thanskgiving. A boy or girl at each table was appointed to serve. Although many of the children were at the Mission for the first time they seemed already to have caught the school spirit of politeness and courtesy. The spirit of service, too, was manifest.

"One knew after seeing the Bible school girls busy in the laundry room or kitchen and the boys helping with the cleaning of the buildings and campus that this part of the day's work must have been carried over from the regular school schedule. But imagine the fun of being one of a group of girls shelling at one time a half bushel of butter beans for dinner, or of being one of a crowd of boys cutting all kinds of antics while waxing a floor, or of being a boy or girl among one hundred and fourteen others going to a party that lasted three hours and was a succession of games, stories, songs, and good things to eat. These are some of the joys of the Daily Vacation Bible school of the Houma Mission.

"Finally the day came when everyone was to march to the Houma Methodist church for the closing exercises, and more than one little boy applied to Miss Hooper as he had previously done many times during the week:

" 'Miss Hoop, I don't got no shoes!'

" 'But I haven't any shoes that would fit you.'

" 'I work them, me, yes!'

"How willing they are to work, to pick leaves and mow the lawn for a toothbrush, pencil, tablet, or handkerchief, but from whence comes this inexhaustible supply of articles for recompense?

"Friday evening meant clean dresses and white shirts, and every one had shoes. There were many songs, some by baby voices and some by teenage manly boys and older

At Work In The French Field

Extension Workers in Bible School

The Sunday School Extension program of the Louisiana Conference Sunday School Board makes every effort to reach and help the great mission work being done in our French Mission field. Each year some effort has been made by the Extension Secretary to fit himself into the regullarly organized work being done by the workers, under the direction of Miss Ella Hooper, and through their understanding of the work and people seek to follow their direction in what small bit we can do.

In June Miss Lois Hammett and Rev. A. K. McLellan took an active part in the Vacation Bible school held at the MacDonell school. In this way a large number of the young people of the French field churches were reached. Since the future of our mission work depends largely on these young people as trained leaders, we feel a very profitable work was done. The Cokesbury Training Class gave ten credits.

Miss Hammett remains in the field for a few months conducting Vacation schools at Lockport and Point-au-Chene.

TO THE WOMEN OF OUR CHURCH

We believe that there is no more constructive Missionary work being done in our great church anywhere than that at Houma, the center of our French Mission field of South Louisiana. Too much credit cannot be given Miss Ella K. Hooper, and her co-workers for the consecrated work so patiently being done.

The Sunday School Board of the Louisiana Conference is only too glad to join forces with the good women of our church in this great Missionary enterprise. This issue of "Missions and Sunday School Extension," the bulletin of our Missions and Extension Work among the Sunday Schools of Louisiana and Abroad, is dedicated this month to this magnificient missionary undertaking.

We join with the women of our Conference in proclaiming its merits to the Methodist people of Louisiana, that they may know and understand more thoroughly the quality of work being done in this great home field.

GROUP FROM LOCKPORT-GRIFFIN SUNDAY SCHOOL

Outreach of the MacDonell School

by Miss Ella K. Hooper

The MacDonell French Mission School is the training station for Christian leadership for the French work, both present and future. It is also the refining plant for the "salt" of the French section. Not all are fitted for leadership, but many can become permeated with Christian ideals, attitudes, and standards, and the influence of these lives and the humble Christian homes which they establish in far-flung, remote areas of rural French Louisiana cannot be estimated.

Pupils come from many communities and spend from one to six years in the school (Some have only the brief period of the Vacation Bible School) and then go back to take up the threads of life as before, but with a difference—with vision and new ideals and abilities. The influence of these young people lifts the foundations of the community and makes further Christian teaching more intelligible to the masses. A smaller group adapted for leadership receives intensive training and practice in service until they finish high school, and it is hoped that College training can be provided for some to fit them for definite service to their own people.

The picture above shows a group from one rural church, twenty-two miles from Houma, who attended the Vacation Bible school last month. Some of these children are members of the regular school and have unusual ability. The momentum this group adds to all departments of the church program is surprising. In addition to gathering together in the school and in other features of the work representatives from so many sections and giving them help in the Christian life and school does extension work in many communities, both teachers and pupils going out on Sundays and week days to do social service, missionary, and Sunday school work.

One of the recent graduates writes thus of the influence of the school:

"Few people realize what the MacDonell school means to the people of Terrebonne, Lafourche and adjoining parishes. . . If you had visited my home and community ten years ago and could see them today you would realize how the influence grows. I am glad and happy to be one of those benefitted and my thanks for what the school has meant to me, to my family and community, will be everlasting and I shall dedicate my life to continuing the work."

girls whose lives are motivated by a desire to serve. There were flag salutes, a story, a prayer, a talk, and an offering. Is it worth while?

"But this is not all. The following Sunday many of these children reproduced, in part, in their own home Sunday schools as a Sunday school day program the closing program given in Houma. And throughout all the weeks following these little children form a leadership group for every Christian undertaking in the communities where they live.

The Twins When Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher First Saw Them in March, 1929

HAVE YOU BEEN TO HOUMA?

Every Methodist in Louisiana should visit Houma. It is an opportunity everyone should have because one cannot appreciate the work of this great institution until one has seen for himself If you are within driving distance or passing by on a trip that takes you near Houma don't fail to visit the Wesley House and MacDonell School.

Little Miss Blanchard was so eager to attend the Bible school she was willing to bring her baby sister, even though she would have to care for her during the daily sessions of the school. She carried little sister in her arms from assembly to class room. In every activity she could be seen taking part, even though little sister must be cared for. She didn't get to attend the entire two weeks session. One day she failed to show up. After enquiring, the cause was found in the following laconic reply, "Mama do' want' ".

THE TWINS

It's Very Lucky To Be Twins

Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher visited the French Mission school, with other delegates to the Annual Missionary meeting in New Orleans, in March, 1928. Mrs. Gallaher offered to give a scholarship to some child wishing to enter school.

"Won't you take one of the twins?" asked a teacher. "Their names have been on our list for some time."

"Twins!" It was Mr. Gallagher who spoke. "We'll take them both. My wife can take one and I'll take the other."

So Elouise and Maryann became the happy beneficiaries of scholarships given by Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Gallagher, Trout, La., and have had one year in the shcool.

But these little girls have other friends, all the members of the primary department of the Mansfield Sunday school, who send their birthday pennies to keep them supplied with pencils, tablets, and stockings, and who write them such sweet and helpful letters. Even the pretty dresses they have on in the picture below are gifts from these lovely friends. Is it any wonder they look so charming and sweet?

The Twins Taken After a Year in the MacDonell French Mission School

STANDARD TRAINING SCHOOL SESSION AUGUST 19-23

Each year in the late summer a Sunday school training school is held in the MacDonell school building at Houma.

Neighboring Sunday Schools are urged to send delegates for this session of the school. Accomodations are provided in the dormitory rooms and dining hall. The charge for the entire time is five dollars. Programs are prepared for the entire day, with the class work in the evenings. Good fellowship, both spiritual and recreational lend to the wholesome time spent in study and training.

This year the School will open Monday, August 19 The same provisions prevail as in other sessions

Write to Miss Ella K Hooper or Rev. B. H. Andrews, Houma, for information.

The following courses are announced tentatively for the training school in August: The Bible, Rev. W. L. Doss, Jr., The Spirit and Genius of Methodism, Rev. B. H. Andrews, Story Telling, Instructor to be secured. We are fortunate to have with us our beloved Presiding Elder and Pastor who are to teach Bible and the Spirit and Genius of Methodism.

Our New Programs of Work

By Rev. C. D. Atkinson

The General Sunday School Board has released the "New Programs of Work" for use as an instrument of guidance in all Sunday School work in Southern Methodism.

The high aim of these instruments is the guiding the Sunday School of today, which will be the church of tomorrow into:

1. The right kind of knowledge.
2. The right kind of faith.
3. The right kind of saintliness in every member of the future church.

Programs to guide the Sunday School in its curriculum.

Knowledge is life. The quality of life depends on the quality of knowledge. Our first aim is to know God's will. The best material to get a knowledge of God's will is the Bible, especially the life of Him, who said, "It was His meat and drink to do God's will, and if the program of work as a guide leaves the Bible and Christ for its main curriculum materials it will be the blind leading the blind, and the church of tomorrow will be headed for the ditch. At present we have the greatest editorial staff in the history of our church, and its task is one of life or death.

Programs to guide in the study of the pupil.

We must know the pupil as we know the truth. Modern advancement in public education is due to a knowledge of child psychology, and this program must be a guide in a knowledge of the pupil, as well as a guide in a knowledge to the truth. This involves a training program for each officer and teacher in the school in a course on psychology, if we are to be true shepherds, for the good shepherd knoweth his sheep.

Programs to guide in uniting the truth and the pupil.

Our task is that of getting the pupils to live out the truth. This program must be a guide in practicing the principles of Jesus. It must suggest programs of activities. We learn to live by living.

Programs a guide in growth as well as a guide in method of instruction.

The Child, Jesus, is the best example to guide us in the program of Religious Education.

This program must guide the parents and teachers to the laws of Christian Nurture and guide them in their holy task of growing children like Jesus grew, "in favor with God and Man."

Programs must lead the pupil into the Church.

The Sunday School program must include loyalty to the Church, not for the sake of the institution, but for the power of the Church to promote Christian Education, and to be a witness of Him who came that "we might have life and that we might have it more abundantly."

Programs must lead the school into World-wide Citizenship

This program must prepare to lead each pupil to accept the "brotherhood of Man" as well as the "Fatherhood of God." The last World War teaches us there is little hope for Nations to live in the future, unless they are willing to become World Citizens.

A Co-operative Task.

This holy task we have just outlined for the program of work is a co-operative task. All organizations, General, Conference and Local exist to make possible this holy task. The tree is known by its fruit. As the tree has many members, so the school has many organizations to help it. The final test of all programs of life is the kind of living samples we have to exhibit.

We hope the results of this "New Program" will be a church membership "in favour with God and Man" and a living witness of Him.

The five programs are as follows:

Program E, for the small school with less than fifty members and not more than four classes, meeting in a one-room church.

Program D, for the school with a membership of from fifty to one hundred and fifty, with six or more classes, probably meeting in a one-room church, although many churches having additional space will fall in this group.

Program C, for the school having a sufficient membership to organize four separate departments, meeting in a building with three departmental rooms in addition to the church auditorium.

Program B, for the school having seven organized departments and a building with six departmental rooms in addition to the church auditorium.

Program A, for the school having eight organized departments and a building with seven departmental rooms in addition to the church auditorium.

THE NEW PROGRAMS COMPARED WITH THE OLD PROGRAMS

By John W. Shockford

The new Programs differ from the old Program in a number of particulars, but there are two fundamental differences to which I wish to call attention.

The new Programs bring together in a unified whole both the general and the departmental sections of work. While the old Programs recognized the existence of the work of the several age-group departments, it dealt specifically only with the problems of general administration, and the departmental programs were prepared and promoted separately. This was discovered to be a real defect in the old Programs which sometimes tended to weaken the unity of the school as a whole. In preparing the new Programs the effort has been made to correct this defect; and the Programs now presented to the Church have been prepared with the very definite purpose of promoting a consistent, harmonious development of all the work of the school, so that these Programs are in the form of a single instrument dealing with the entire school, including all its departments and committees.

The second difference between the new and the old Programs is, that whereas the old Programs were of three types, the new Programs are of five types. Experience has shown that the classification of our Sunday schools into three groups does not sufficiently correspond with facts. After the most painstaking study it has seemed wise to distinguish schools of five types and to prepare Programs of Work suited to the needs of each.

Because the General Board recognizes that educational programs of any sort are developed under proper educational guidance in actual situations, it does not regard these new Programs as in any sense either final or perfect. They represent the best that can be provided at the present time on the basis of experience in the use of the old Programs, and with the help of the cooperative thinking of those persons in the Church who have given most consideration to the present-day needs of Sunday school work. But it is frankly recognized that these Programs must now be subjected to the supreme test—that of use in a wide variety of typical situations. The Board is, therefore, releasing these Programs for use and testing, with the understanding that after they have been tried out in our Sunday schools they will be subject to such further revision and improvement as experience may indicate.

Those who make intelligent use of these Programs and discover in them points of strength or of weakness, or who go beyond the goals indicated in developing something finer and more adequate in their Sunday school work, will thus make their contribution toword the better Programs that are to be, and toward the more helpful guidance of the Church in religious education. Into the fellowship of this cooperative and creative task the General Sunday School Board welcomes all those who shall make use of these Programs of Work.

These Programs will be placed in the Sunday schools in accordance with the regular policies of the general and Conference Sunday School .Boards. Those interested should communicate with their Conference Superintendent of Sunday School Work.

SUGGESTED METHODS OF PLACING AND INTERPRETING THE PROGRAMS OF WORK IN THE LOCAL SUNDAY SCHOOLS

By Rev. A. K. McLellan

It seems to me the first task of the one placing the Program of Work is to explain the purpose and function of the Program, and in this way attempt to create a right attitude toward it, on the part of the workers who are to use it, so they may appreciate it as an instrument planned to meet their needs, and to guide them in formulating and administering the work of the local school. Also, take infinite care to impress upon them the fact that it is to be used as a means of measuring the work and progress of the school. At this time it might be pointed out that an approved interpreter would also use this as a means of scoring the work of the school, and in this way help them to see the progress made, and at the same time, to point out the weaknesse sof their own operation with the view of encouraging them to do a more thoroughgoing piece of work To lead the minto a farther appreciation of the helpfulness of the Programs of Work it should be made clear that this isn't a document worked out overhead and handed down, but a piece of work accomplished through the efforts of those experienced in Sunday School Work, not only on the Administrative Staff in the Central Office, but by the workers who are actually at work in the fields of various Annual Conferences with the view of actually meeting the needs of various situations

In arousing a splendid spirit of loyalty in the interpretation of the Programs of Work, emphasis should not be upon te mater of scoring, but to answer as far as possible, the "Why" of every point in order that they may became fully informed as to what the Program of Work is intended to do in actually helping them to most satisfactorily meet every need of the school.

In determining the Program of Work to be placed in any particular school certain factors must be carefully considered. Possibly the factors having the largest part in determining what Program they should use, are the possibilities of leadership within the local church, and the attitude toward self-improvement. It is clearly evident that these two will have much to do with the selection of the Programs for use, and its successful operation

Every Sunday School should aspire to reach and serve the whole community in which it is located, therefore, a survey of the community is highly desirable at this time, inorder to intelligently determine th scope of its activity, and the possible number to be included in its enrollment. This would help, not in a study of the present operating organization, but reveals ages in the community that are not being reached and the extent of the organization were it possible even to reach a percentage of these. At the same time possibilities of the community itself should be considered. Is the community at a standstill in its growth? Are there many families moving away? Is a great part of the population transient? Does there seem to be indications of a gradual growth? Each of these will have a bearing upon the Programs to be placed

Out of this naturally comes the question of building and equipment. What kind of building do they now have and what are the possibilities for an enlarged building program? If there are not opportunities for an enlarged and better equipped building there is only one thing to do, take what is already in use and select the program more nearly fitting the needs in this particular respect, and hope fo rthe best use of them. If there are changes for an expansion in growth and building program, this should be taken into consideration and atempt to use the program selected as an incentive for moving toward this actual accomplishment of these

Might we not emphasize again the place of incentive in determining the kind of Program to be placed, and express the hope that gratifying results might be attained in an aroused enthusiasm, which will encourage those concerned into an unshakable belief in their own possibilities, and urge them to do and be workers who can make possible "even unto the least of these" in their own community the religion of the whole life.

Message from Conference Superintendent of Administration

As Conference Superintendent of Administration, I am vitally interested in your attending the most convenient institute. Will you do it? Our work is going forward in the years ahead "on the feet" of these Programs of Work. Our Schools will develop as they get a measuring stick and goal. These Programs are a vast improvement over the old ones. They cover every Sunday School, no matter how small or how big and well housed. They are the product of long study by many scores of people, experts and down-at-the-botton workers. At least 100 workers in our Conference should get a thorough understanding of the meaning and application of these Programs of our every day work. I hope you will find it possible to be one of these.

T. W. HOLLOMAN.

CONFERENCE ELEMENTARY SUPERINTENDENT URGES OBSERVANCE CHILDHOOD--YOUTH WEEK

Beautiful Pageant Available

By Mrs. W. W. Holmes
Conference Elementary Supt.

We trust every Sunday school in our Conference will observe Childhood and Youth Week. We believe a well planned program for this observance will enthuse and inspire your parents and Sunday school workers as no other one thing will.

The Pageant

The pageant is especially beautiful and effective. It is sufficiently simple for production in an ordinary church having a large enough platform accommodating eight sitting and standing. Properties are few and easily procured, costumes simple. There are eight scenes, one or two of which may be omitted. The use of a reader lessens the amount of memorizing and at the same time adds something of beauty and dignity to the whole. Suggestion for music are given on page 14 under "directions."

Send in your order NOW for all materials, which may be had for the ASKING, to the Conference Sunday School Board, Box 742, Alexandria, La.

LET US ELIMINATE "GUESSING" IN OUR ANNUAL SUNDAY SCHOOL REPORT

Take our Minutes, Table No. 2, by districts. In Alexandria District total in all departments of 731 is reported, yet the four items from which this total decrease is reached shows only 475. We lose in this District 256 through guesswork.

In the Baton Rouge District there is a decrease report in the first four items, yet a total increase of 160 is reported. I know in grammar two negatives make a positive, but did not know four decreases in numbers made a total increase. In the next District, Lake Charles, the story is just reversed, four items of increase make a total of 92 decrease.

All this is to say that we urge our pastors, in making their reports to the Annual Conference this fall, to please be very careful when reporting their Sunday School statistics. The figures from these statistics have a great bearing upon the Sunday School statistics of the whole church.

IS YOUR SCHOOL LISTED THERE?

STUDY BACK PAGE OF BULLETIN

On the last page of the Bulletin is a complete alphabetical list by districts of the Sunday schools remitting Fourth Sunday Missionary Offerings each month, the number of times each school has remitted, the amount for the current month, and the accumulated total.

How Is Your School Listed?

In the eight districts of our Conference 118 schools have made no missionary offering thus far this year, 201 have remitted one or more offerings, and 18 have remitted promptly each month. HOW IS YOUR SCHOOL LISTED?

Whom Do Our Dollars Help?

All our Sunday school leaders are familiar with the DUAL MISSION SPECIAL which our fourth Sunday offerings support. On the tenth of each month our offerings are directed by our treasurer, Mr. A. M. Mayo, to China, Kim in Korea, and our own Sunday school extension work in Louisiana Conference.

China

That portion of our offering going to China help support Hospitals, Missionaries, Educational Institutions, Native Workers, etc., of the general mission work of our church in that great country. Every Sunday school in Southern Methodism participating in the DUAL MISSION SPECIAL assists in supporting the work in China.

Kim in Korea

Kim in Korea is Louisiana's own Mission Special, whereby the Louisiana Sunday school people, through Rev. J. O. Kim, carry on Sunday school work among the Korean people. Brother Kim is Conference Superintendent of Sunday School work and through him we are providing religious educational opportunities for Boys and Girls and Adults of Korea. This work is done by Brother Kim through District Institutes, Training Schools, Translation of Literature into Korean Languages, etc. Brother Kim is constantly organizing new Sunday schools.

Louisiana

In Louisiana 50 per cent of these offerings are used to promote a Sunday school extension program which seeks to reach the Small Sunday School and Mission areas of our own Louisiana Conference. The Rev. A. K. McLellan, Extension Secretary, spends much of his time teaching Cokesbury Leadership Training Schools in the Small Sunday Schools of our Conference. Other items in the Extension Program are Sunday School Institutes, Placing Programs of Work, organizing new Sunday

SOLVING THE RURAL CHURCH PROBLEM—HOW ONE PASTOR DOES IT

We are glad to give our readers a sketch copied from the Sunday School Messenger of the Texas Conference, Rev. F. D. Dawson, Conference Superintendent, and Rev. C. W. Lokey, Extension Secretary, relating a concrete case in which a rural pastor solves the problems of his own circuit. We know there are some pastors in our own conference who are employing similar methods in solving the problems on their charges. Since the Sunday school extension program is vitally interested in the problems of the rural church, we hope this article will provoke discussion along these lines and responses from those who have used such methods successfully.

"'In the fall of 1926, I was sent to Marshall Circuit, which was a five-point work. The parsonage was old and badly dilapidated and was located in Marshall. The five churches which made up this circuit were located around Marshall, in the rural community, at a distance of four miles, eight miles, ten miles, fourteen miles and twenty miles, all directions. The 'Minutes' of the Conference showed the preacher's salary was set at $1,000 and about $750 paid, and the assessments for the other subjects of budget were $800, with about $150 paid of budget, in annual payments. I first preached at all my churches and visited as many as I could, as soon as possible. I realized we had to have some plan to solve the problem.

"'I sent out cards and telephoned all my official board and had them meet me in a business meeting at the parsonage one Friday night. We made out our budget for the whole circuit for the year, and added everything the churches would be expected and it made one bale of 318 pounds of seed cotton and brought $131. I put 600 pounds of fertilized under it, planted May 5, and on August 30 I picked and ginned a bale which that day would have brought $110.

"'And by this time I had gotten me four more places out in the country to preach at. I would preach in the evening and at night during the week. To be sure I would put over my program and to give my ladies a place to work, I figured if I could get eleven ladies in each community and each would dedicate one hen, and set that hen on fifteen eggs, that would give us 100 hens, and if each would hatch ten chickens apiece, it would be 1,000 chickens, and at 50 cents apiece, they would bring $500 in money. And we offered $20 in gold to the one who made the most with her hen. One dear lady said the hawks were bad at her place. She said they would have liked to eat up her individual chickens, also said her church hen hatched fourteen chickens and the hawks did not catch a single one.

The hen that won	$ 11.75
The half-acre cotton	56.00
The whole acre	128.00

"'Some of those forty-one men were renters, and some halvers, but not in one case did the landlord charge one cent rent on the church cotton. We worked over each church and the parsonage and our total expense for the year was $4,353. We paid every dollar and left enough money in the treasury to pay the first month's salary for 1929.

"'All the praise be to the Lord as the giver of every good and perfect gift. I feel hopeful for the rural community."

Missionary Education In First Church, Monroe

Leads In Missionary Offering

As Missionary Secretary of my Sunday School, I want to report to you a most splendid year's work. Last year we decided to let our Missionary year bekin with Promotion Day. So, just after this day we sent pledge cards to every class. Each class signed these cards, pledging their fourth Sunday offering to Missions. The total pledged for the year was $558.50. Last Sunday ended the year and we notice our pledge has been overpaid, the total being $582.80.

Every fourth Sunday during the year a special program has been given in every department. We find it better not to present every phase of the work each time, but one month have China, another Korea, and have special days for the work at home. On the fourth Sunday in August we observed "Houma Mission Day" with appropriate programs in every department. In September we featured China. Our Worship periods are not long enough to bring in enough of every special to create interest.

On every third Sunday attractive reminders are sent every class, "lest they forget" the special offering for fourth Sunday.

Our motto is ever "Pray, Give and Go." We can't all go, but Monroe First Church can pray and give. We take great pride in the fact that our Sunday school ranks first in the state in fourth Sunday offerings, showing that we realize that the command, "Go ye" was not meant only for the twelve, but for all who have taken up the cross and want to have a part in Christianizing the world.

After Promotion Day, next Sunday, all our classes will make new pledges, and we are looking forward to the biggest year, "missionarily speaking." in the history of our church.

Please, at all times, send me all the material and suggestions for Missionary Programs that you have, for I realize that it is only through a definite and continuous program of Missionary Education that we can insure a permanent missionary vision.

Assuring you of our heartiest cooperation at all times, I remain,

Very truly yours,
(Signed) MRS. D. C. WARNER.

schools and giving, where possible, assistance to the rural Church.

Missionary Worship Program

The worship program during the opening minutes of each Sunday session affords an unusual opportunity for the local Sunday school to give instruction in the missionary work being done by our schools in the fields already mentioned above. The great value to be derived from this is the missionary training of those in the Sunday school.

The Offering

When this information is given each fourth Sunday in a most interesting way and filled with the deepest Missionary appeal, having been planned with much care, there should be stirred in the hearts of the listeners a great, pulsing desire to participate in this far-reaching missionary enterprise. The interest created is expressed in the offering taken during the program to support the work they have just heard about. The missionary program on each fourth Sunday is the most vital part of the fourth Sunday missionary observance because of the information it can give to the Sunday school itself.

What We Miss

When a Sunday school fails to observe each fourth Sunday as missionary day, the opportunities of missionary instruction through the missionary program is lost and no missionary education is provided by this Sunday school for its boys and girls and adults.

The opportunity of participating in a missionary work of their very own and the joy that comes in the intelligent giving of the individual is lost if the offering is not taken. TO KNOW IS TO DO.

SALEM CHURCH NOW "PAID UP"

Women Workers Use New Method of Getting "Assessment" Ahead of Time

How Salem Methodist church managed to pay all church "assessments" six months ahead of schedule, was told at the fourth quarterly conference of the Simsboro charge, Ruston district, held at Salem church Sunday, Mrs. T. L. McCrary and Mrs. George Dye, leaders in the church, asked Mrs. McCrary's husband for the use of a farm truck for one day the past week. Without taking care to inquire what work they wanted him to do, Mr. McCrary readily consented to drive the truck, and was then told that the ladies wanted to visit every farm in the Salem community Wednesday. When the tour was finished late at night, the truck carried more than a bale of cotton in the seed, donated by the farmers of the community. George Dye, community ginner, ginned the cotton free, then the firm of G. W. Dye and son bought the cotton, paying one and one-cent above the market price. The cotton and the seed netted the sum of $88.06 cents which, when applied to previous payments, met the church assessment of $250, leaving a balance of $5.65 in the treasury. Speaking of the matter Sunday, Presiding Elder Brown, of the Ruston charge, said:

"I have been in the Methodist ministry for more than 30 years, and this is the first time I have witnessed a church assessment paid in full, with a balance left over, six weeks before the last conference date."

Simsboro charge includes the churches of Simsboro, Antioch, Hilly, Vienna and Salem. Reports made by representatives of each of these churches indicated a healthy condition of church finances. Rev. W. F. Henderson, Jr., is the pastor.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE ISSUE

Missions and Sunday School Extension

CHINA — KIM IN KOREA — LOUISIANA

Vol. II. ALEXANDRIA, LA., NOVEMBER, 1929 No. 11

FACING OUR TASK

Taken from Conference Superintendent's Report.

Edison says, "he judges Youth by its behavior or conduct." Jesus Christ judges all life by its conduct or character, even the life of a tree, when he said, "you know a tree by its fruit." If the ultimate aim of all life and education should be conduct and character, our first task is to find the FACTOR in life which shapes conduct and character. First, this FACTOR is not Knowledge, we may have "all knowledge," and be nothing in character. Second, this FACTOR is not in activity, otherwise, the Pharisees would have been the greatest Saints in history.

Jesus Christ, the Master Teacher, discovered where the race can find the one FACTOR which can shape all conduct and character, and that FACTOR is the religious nature in every child, which FACTOR is a doorway into the Kingdom of God. Our first task of religious education is to nurture and develop this nature in each child, so as his conduct and character will be approved of God and man. Our second task is to reach the unreached and the lost and get them into the Kingdom of God by the door of Conversion, and we should show as much zeal for evangelism as for Christian Nurture.

What a great and expansive program we should have as a Board if we "face up" to the task of Religious Education and Evangelism in Louisiana Methodism.

Missionary and Extension Work, Louisiana Conference

Dr. W. Winans Drake

Since we adopted the Dual Extension plan in our Conference more than three years ago, there has been a gradual and gratifying development in the interest of our Sunday Schools in Missions, as shown in a constant increase in the Fourth Sunday offerings. On the basis of this increasing interest, our Board undertook at the last Conference to broaden its field of work in our own State by the addition of an additional part-time worker. Under this plan, Miss Lois Hammett spent most of the year with the Board, giving half time to the Extension Work, a good part of her work being given to the French Mission Field. This expansion made necessary the addition of $900.00 to our home half of the Dual Extension Budget, thus automatically making it necessary to increase the entire budget for the Conference by $1,800.00.

As far as we can estimate before the final reports from all our schools are in, there has been an increase in offerings, as well as the number of contributing schools during the year, but not enough to carry the needed increase in our budget.

Despite the increase in the number of schools cooperating in the Dual

Taken from Extension Secretary's Report.

We cannot be too enthusiastic over the results of our Missions and Sunday School Extension Program for this year because there should be a greater showing in the total number of Sunday Schools observing, and a resultant increase in the total offerings reported. There were 220 schools to observe one or more times during the year. There was a distressing lack of continuous observance among the schools who sent in one or more times.

This should in no way reflect upon the possibilities within the program for Missionary Education, and opportunities for a far reaching participation by the constituency of the Sunday schools of the Louisiana Conference. We believe the greatest force for a whole-hearted participation of Sunday schools in the Dual Mission Special is reliable information which must sift down to the smallest school. When the Dual Mission Special has been carefully and instructively explained, there have come hearty responses. Of course this does not include those who are constitutionally oposed to Missions. Plans are now being made for illustrated lectures for the promotion of this work in the local Sunday school. We believe this will prove a very effective method in getting before our local Sunday schools actual scenes from Korea, China and Louisiana.

Our greatest task in the promotion of the Dual Mission Special lies in three particular directions, first, to secure the proper use of Missionary Programs in the Sunday school session on each Fourth Sunday. Second, as mentioned above, information through personal visitation for the Sunday schools which will create a desire to participate, because of the results possible to be obtained in Missionary Education and Missionary activities among the Sunday school constituency of the Louisiana Conference. Third, to create among the leadership of our Sunday schools participating necessity for a continuous observance—not once, twice or six times, but every Fourth Sunday.

MISSIONARY AND EXTENSION WORK IN THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE

Special, there are still a hundred or more schools which do not send in their missionary offerings. Some of our stronger schools have been contributing perhaps to other missionary causes, and have failed to join with us in this practical and educative plan, which would unite all our Sunday schools in ministering effectively to the development of religious education in our own State, while sending an equal amount to the regions beyond. It seems to us who are studying the problem of missionary education in the light of the disciplinary plans provided by the church, that it would greatly help in training our young people in practical missionary effort, if every Sunday School in the Conference woul dcooperate in sending their missionary offerings each month to the Dual Special Fund; and by so doing the Board would be enabled to care adequately for an expanding program of service.

The report of the Extension Secretary will show that very many communities and Sunday schools throughout the State have been reached through visitations, Cokesbury Schools and otherwise for the strengthening of our schools all over the State.

Some of our District Secretaries have rendered especially valuable service in missionary zeal, in offerings, annd the successful prosecution of our Extension work.

FACING OUR TASK

Extension Secretary

Our work this year has been conducted along the following lines::

First,

1. Personal visitation of Sunday schools in session, assisting in organizing and re-organizing Sunday schools, personal conferences, community visitation, etc.

2. Promotion of Cokesbury Training Schools and Classes.

3. Placing and Interpreting Programs of Work.

4. Promotion of plans for cultivation of Missionary minded church through the Sunday school, and secure continuous, prompt, liberal offerings through our Treasurer, Mr. A. M. Mayo.

5. Rendered service in the French Mission Field through the organization already in operation there.

6. One night Institutes. — week nights.

THANKS FROM THE TREASURER

It has been a pleasure to serve the Sunday School as Treasurer in the years past.

I earnestly request remittances to be made so as to reach the treasurer on or before the 10th of each month, the remitters using the blanks provided by the Board, which can be had on request.

I regret to report that five Sunday Schools in the Lake Charles District failed to remit any Missionary money. Should have been 100 per cent.

I trust next year all the Schools in the State will count it a privilege to make offerings.

I thank those remitting for their co-operation in our great work.

I am,

Yours most truly,

A. M. MAYO.

Annual Report of the Korea Conference Sunday School Board September 9, 1929

Our Sunday School work of the past year has been encouraging and successful in many ways. For instance, many new Sunday Schools have been organized, the attendance at the Teachers' Training School was notably larger than ever before, especially among the high school graduates and college students, and we have published the first book of the Sunday School Training Course, and have also begun the publication monthly of a Sunday School Magazine.

In this report I will cover the work under the following heads:

1. Sunday School extension in unoccupied areas.

2. Improvement of Sunday School Organization and administration.

3. Conduct of the model Sunday School.

4. Conduct of Sunday School Training Institutes and Classes.

5. District Sunday School Convention.

6. Leaders Summer Training School.

7. Development of a better Sunday School Literature.

8. Editorial work for the magazine, "Sunday School Teacher."

Before touching these items, however, let me tell you of the organization of our Sunday School Board. Its membership is made up of preachers and laymen elected by the Annual Conference. It meets once a year during the Conference and elects an executive committee which meets during the year whenever need arises.

Plans are made by the Conference Board and sent to the District Sunday School Associations to be carried out under the direction of the Annual Conference secretary and the District secretary.

Our staff is composed of two full-time workers, the general secretary and clerical secretary. During the past year 1944 letters have been sent out from the office.

A year ago last May our office was moved from Songdo to Seoul, where we have share with Mr. Lacy, but since he needed the room, we moved to the Union Methodist Seminary in July. It is uncertain how long we may be able to stay there, and so we are hoping to secure a permanent location, with additional workers. We are paying ten yen a month for our present quarters.

In conclusion, we wish to express our deep gratitude to those in Korea and America who have so faithfully and generously helped us, and we hope the work may go forward and continually increase in usefulness in the future. Especially I wish to thank the secretaries of the Home Sunday School Board, and the district secretaries of the Korea Annual Conference, and Mr. Norris and Mr. Peters and Mrs. Maynor who have been helping personally.

REPORT ELEMENTARY WORK
Mrs. W. W. Holmes

To Rev. C. D. Atkinson,
Conference Superintendent of Sunday Schools,
Louisiana Annual Conference.

I herewith submit my report as Acting Conference Elementary Superintendent, having taken charge September 1st, filling out the unexpired term of Miss Lois Hammett, who returned to college to complete her degree work.

In the short time that we have been in the work we have discovered the fact that many of our districts are poorly organized, and because of this lack of organization the elementary work of the districts, sub-districts and local churches is suffering. We are taking advantage of Miss Skinner's visit to our Annual Conference to put on a Conference for District and Sub-District Elementary workers, believeing that thus we may become better informed concerning our work, and too, receive inspiration that will urge us to go forward in this important field. My report follows:

CHINA — KIM IN KOREA — LOUISIANA

Vol. II. ALEXANDRIA, LA., DECEMBER, 1929 No. 12

CHRISTMAS WISHES FROM THE SUNDAY SCHOOL STAFF

Conference Superintendent:

"That Louisiana Methodism may make heart room for God's Christmas Gift, and that our 1930 growth and development may be in favour with God and man."

Extension Secretary:

"May our Christmas wish be one of Love, Peace, Happiness and Goodwill toward men, as we become more conscious of our Brother-hood in Christ Jesus and sonship with the Father, Keeping thoughts in our hearts of those who need Christ at home and afar, yearning to share Him with these."

Superintendent Missionary Education:

"As we celebrate the coming of Christ the Redeemer into our world, let us remember that his coming and his message were for all the world. Let every Sunday school pupil and teacher, while thanking God for the blessings He brings, renew the purpose to share them with the whole world."

W. Winans Drake, Monroe, La.

To the Elementary Workers of the Louisiana Conference:

"We extend heartiest Christmas Greetings and the earnest wish that in the days of the coming New Year you may have the joy of leading the childhood committed to your care to such a consciousness of the love of HIM, whose birthday we are so soon to celebrate that a measure of this wonderful love may be reflected in their own lives now, and in all the days to come."

Mrs. W. W. Holmes, Elementary Supt. Alexandria, La.

To the Adult Workers:

Christmas greetings! Of all seasons of the year, Christmas ought to be the one full of growth and improvement of the spiritual nature. We are going to have a better world, but we must help to make it so by the drawing together and the consenting work of a fellowship of good will. In the Adult Department we should stretch out our boundaries toward the neglected and the lonely and the poor.

Frank L. Wells, Adult Superintendent, Baton Rouge, La.

Superintendent of Parent Education and Home Cooperation:

Christ's coming as a little child sanctified and glorified the home. May the glow of the Christmas Day illuminate our hearts, giving us a clearer understanding of childhood and a deeper appreciation of parenthood. Let our homes reflect the radiant joy that was Mary's when she sang "My soul doth magnify the Lord."

Mrs. R. E. Smith, Shreveport, La.

Superintendent of Evangelism:

This Christmas can be made an appropriate time for a real and personal effort of evangelism, for just as we give and accept gifts, we should give and accept Jesus. To wish you a happy Christmas, then, in the highest sense, will be to wish that you may have and share God's unspeakable gift of His Son."

Rev. H. L. Johns, New Orleans, La.

The Miracle of Christmas

For many, many years the minds of men and women have been turning out Christmas thoughts and Christmas messages, and still, miraculously, we cry "Merry Christmas!" each year as if it were something brand new, right out of the hopper.

One writer has pointed out that the real miracle of Christmas is that the the spirit of the day, so mystical and so alien to the times in which we live, has been able to survive the strain put upon it by the frantic period that precedes it. The clamor of Christmas advertising, the hurry and vexation, the planning of ways and means—these things have little connection with what we know as the Christmas spirit. In spite of them the spirit continues to exist. Why? Because it is "a universal thing of childhood and helplessness and wonder, of pity, and of love. The indestructible candle of that spirit of childhood which has lighted the first years of every man and woman on earth, and has flamed up at least once in every passing year, glows again to remind them that in the child and its mother the whole family of mankind has its common meeting-place and common starting-place."—"Child Welfare."

THE CHILD'S BILL OF RIGHTS

The ideal to which we should strive is that there shall be no child in America:

That has not been born under proper conditions

That does not live in hygienic surroundings

That ever suffers from undernourishment

That does not have prompt and efficient medical attention and inspection

That does not receive primary instruction in the elements of hygiene and good health

That has not the complete birthright of a sound mind in a sound body

That has not the encouragement to express in fullest measure the spirit within, which is the final endowment of every human being.

ITEMS FROM KIM'S WORK IN KOREA

Sunday School Extension

We have this year organized thirty-six new Sunday schools in country sections where no Sunday school has ever been before. We hope next year to have a traveling secretary for this specific purpose of opening new work and reorganizing old Sunday schools.

Improved Sunday School Organization and Administration

Heretofore our Sunday schools have not been organized like the present American Sunday School on account of our lack of adequate buildings, teachers, and lesson literature. They have been just like the old time Sunday school in America, but recently we have been reorganizing most of the larger schools to conform with the Standard "C," "D,' and "E" type.

Conducted Model Sunday School

For the last two years we have been paying special attention to a Sunday School in each district selected to become a model Sunday school. As yet we can't say we have attained our goal, but we are looking forward to it. We have selected Water-mark Sunday school as the model for the Seoul District.

While Dr. Barclay, the Northern Methodist Secretary of Religious Education was visiting in Korea we held a conference with the religious educational leaders of both churches and discussed the Leaders' Training Course and other problems. After he left, we had a conference with the Seminary teachers and decided to perfect a model Sunday school in Seoul representing each of the two denominations. As above mentioned, our Water-mark Sunday School had already been selected in our church, and so we renewed our efforts in reorganizing with the help of the Women's Seminary students and the local church members. I am hoping this will become a real model for the other Sunday schools in Seoul.

Before Miss Tinsley went home she had consented to become Supervisor of the model Sunday school, but her work was interrupted by illness. However, we are very glad she has come back.

Sunday School Teachers' Training Schools

The past year we had twenty-six Teachers' Training Institutes, of which I personally, visited eighteen. The enrollment was 1451 pupils, but I regret to say that not more than 489 passed the examinations and received certificates. However, encouraging features were the increased interest of the students over past years, and the large number of high school graduates and college students in attendance.

REV. J. O. KIM

District Sunday School Convention

This was the first year District Sunday School Convention had been held. We had two, one in Songdo for the Songdo District, and one in In-Je for the Choon-Chun District. Morning sessions were devoted to training classes, and the afternoon and evening to round-table discussions, and resolutions were made.

Special mention should be made of the warm reception and free entertainment of the delegates during the five days by the non-Christians. Some of the delegates brought their own food and walked five or six hundred li (three lis make one mile) to the convention, and seemed not in the least tired, but happy and eager to get the greatest benefit from the session.

Leaders' Summer Conference

I cannot say much of the Summer Conference myself, but everyone who attended it said it was the most helpful and spiritual that had ever been held. I received many compliments, and was very glad they were so happy, but the credit must be given to Mrs. Maynor. She did a great work in her direction of the recreation. But I will ask her to pay tuition for eating Korean food and sleeping on the floor, living with the Korean young ladies for ten days in real Korean style.

Credit is also due the Presiding Elders, preachers and secretaries of the district associations for their hearty cooperation in sending delegates and making the conference so successful. There were ninety-six delegates, including fifteen young ladies.

Developed Better Sunday School Literature

During the year I have prepared the Third Year Course of the Junior Lessons and it is already printed and in use. The first for the Sunday School Training Course, entitled, "How We Got Our Bible," prepared by Rev. I. Y. Kim, Professor at the Seminary, is now on sale. I have also prepared another book, "The Principles of Religious Teachings," but I am sorry to say we have no funds for printing it.

Our plan is to publish two or three books for the Teachers' Training Course each year until the twelve courses are provided for, if ouly our financial resources permit.

Editorial Work

In January, 1929, we began the publication of a monthly magazine, "The Sunday School Teacher," containing articles on religious education, helpful stories, church news, and lesson helps for Primary, Junior and Intermediate Departments. We charge only for the postage and are sending out 2,000 copies each month to every Sunday school in our church. We have received many commendations and testimonials to its helpfulness, and hope our finances will allow us to carry on this work. This year we have four hundred yen in debt for this magazine.

KIM RECEIVES MOTORCYCLE

First Methodist Church, Shreveport, Shares in Gift

At the close of Kim's address to the congregation, First Methodist Church, Shreveport, on his visit to Louisiana last year, Brother T. C. Clanton, a prominent worker in the Sunday school and Church, asked Kim to come to see him at his office Monday morning. As a result of this conference Brother Kim will now have a motorcycle for use in visiting among the Sunday schools in Korea. This will increase Kim's usefulness many fold, since he will be able to cover more territory and reach more Sunday schools and people.

Kim is doing a fine work in the interest of the Sunday school movement in Korea, and Louisiana Sunday school workers should appreciate very much this great opportunity in sharing and making possible the work Kim is doing.

The Park Place Sunday School at Greensboro, N. C., shared in this gift to Brother Kim, standing one-half of the cost, each Sunday school giving $216.75.

Dr. A. S. Lutz, Presiding Elder Alexandria District, taught a most profitable Cokesbury One-Teacher School at Rosedale in September.

Rev. J. H. Bowdon taught the Bible course in the Bluff Creek Camp Assembly in a cooperative program of Sunday School and Epworth League District workers. This was a new experience and proved most profitable. This same experiment was repeated at Many, excepting the Assembly idea, where two Sunday School Courses and one Epworth League Course were given in a cooperative program. Miss Langford taught the Epworth League Handbook, Dr. C. D. Atkinson, Course on the Bible, and Rev. A. K. McClellan, Organization and Administration of the Small Sunday School.

It is hoped that these cooperative schools and camps may be a definite part of the program of the two Boards.

IN APPRECIATION

Friends of Sunday School Extension Program Large in Number, and Most Helpful

Whatever success the Missions and Sunday School Extension Program of the Louisiana Conference Sunday School Board attains will be directly due to the loyal support given it by its many friends.

Those responsible for the administration of this program in our Conference are deeply grateful for the active, loyal support of so large a number of friends.

The Presiding Elders, Pastors, Sunday School Superintendents, District Missionary Superintendents and other interested workers in every local church have been most loyal in their whole hearted support of this program. In district and in local schools these workers have constantly presented the salient facts of our Mission and Extension Program, thereby, effectively informing our constituency of its aims and purposes.

No program of greater Missionary Educational possibilities and sympathetic helpfulness in maintaining Extension Work among the needy areas of our Conference, and also in Foreign Fields has been projected by our church.

The possibilities of this program may be realized only in a knowledge that comes from an actual participation. As our people become informed of the opportunities in this program they are completely won over to it, because of the vast areas of helpful service that are open to them.

Let us again express our deepest and sincere appreciation to our Presiding Elders, Pastors, Sunday School Superintendents, District Missionary Superintendents and other workers in our local school for the large part they have played in the successful attainments of our program of Mission and Sunday School Extension included in the Dual Mission Plan of the Louisiana Conference Sunday School Board.

We pray that these leaders may continue to win others to a continuous support of this program in the future in a greater measure than ever before.

HELP EXTENSION SECRETARY PLAN PROGRAM

Make Plans Now

We should like to urge Presiding Elders and Pastors to use the Sunday School Extension Secretary this year in whatever way they think he can serve them and as often as possible.

The pastors of rural churches should feel free to call upon the Extension Secretary and secure his help in planning their program for the year. This doesn't intimate any superiority of the Extension Secretary as an expert, but the suggestion that he be used by these pastors as an aid or helper under the pastor's supervision in organizing for surveys, planning for Training Work, placing Programs, Local Institutes, arousing interest, etc.

Some of the best and most far reaching work done last year was accomplished under the direction of the Presiding Elders. We hope all our Presiding Elders will point out needy places and call upon the Extension Secretary and use him where there is need.

In order to plan the year's program we should like to hear as soon as possible from those planning Cokesbury schools, and other work on their charges. It would be an advantage to the Board if the Extension Secretary could follow a systematic program of work by districts.

MISSIONARY TRAINING SHOULD BE CENTER OF CHURCH SCHOOL PROGRAM

Local School Should Teach Missions

We hope this New Year may be the greatest year for the Missionary work in our Sunday schools of Louisiana. Not only for what the Sunday school itself might gain from this great study and activity, but what it will mean to the whole church. If the Sunday school succeeds in properly training and guiding the experiences of those included in its sessions from Sunday to Sunday in Missionary study and activity it will mean much to every department of the Church.

The Sunday school taking its place alongside the other departments of the church, hopes to make her contribution most effective in making the church a missionary minded church.

Each member of the Sunday school has the opportunity of making this great program a success. We urge you to give your best efforts toward building in each local Sunday school an appealing, instructive, Missionary Program producing marvelous results in Missionary character building.
